TWO FIREMEN ARE BURNED FIGHTING WITH FLAMES

Paint Shop, Five Autos Are Destroyed and Residence Nearby Damaged

Fire ofo undetermined origin early this morning destroyed an auto paint shop at 1027 South Fernando Road, five automobiles in the shop, a private garage, and damaged a dwelling house at 517½ West Park Avenue.

A patient at the Mission Rest Home at 1011 South Fernando Road first discovered the fire at 3:15 a. m., after it had gained considerable headway. Mrs. May P. Moberly, manager of the home, telephoned the alarm to the Fire Department, both No. 1 and No. 2 stations answering the call.

However, the paint shop a frame building about 40 by 90 feet, was already too far gone to save, and the firemen, headed by Chief A. H. Lankford, and Assistant Chief Ed Fairfield, devoted their energies toward saving two residences nearby.

Two Firemen Burned

Captain Jack Rockwell and Fireman Dean Williams of Station No. 1 were burned about the head while attempting to save a number of rabbits confined in two hutches close to the burning building. They risked their lives, dashing into the midst of the flames to rescue the rabbits which were crying like children.

The frame building in which the paint shop was maintained is the property of C. J. Griin of 1035 South Fernando Road, and it is believed that the loss of the building is entirely covered by insurance. Five cars were total losses: an Oldsmobile, Ford, Moline-Knight, Essex and Cadillac, the later having just been repaired at a cost of $260. The loss to the owners of the cars has not been determined.

Residence Damaged

The small residence at 517½ West Park is the property of Mrs. Anna Goddard, and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Levert Goddard. One end of the building was charred, and furniture on the inside damaged. It was insured with the H. L. Miller Co., 109 South Brand Boulevard. Mr. Miller was on the ground this morning at 8:30 and the claim is already adjusted and settled.

ELKS CONVENTION IS GREAT EVENT

C. A. Redmond, Home From Lodge Gathering, Tells of Visit In East

"It was a great trip and a fine gathering, but we're glad to be in Glendale," is the greeting Glendale people received today from C. A. Redmond, local Union Pacific agent and prominent Elk, who with Mrs. Redmond arrived home last night from a trip east to attend the Elks' national convention meeting at Atlantic City from July 10 to 15.

There were 17,000 Elks and their families in attendance at the convention and 127 of this number were from California. The California delegation traveled in three cars, which joined a special train at Ogden, Utah.

Atlantic City offered continued entertainment, says Mr. Redmond, and the five days of the convention were filled with much enthusiasm and pleasure. The next national convention is to be held in 1923 at Atlanta, Ga.

Meet Glendale Folk

From the convention Mr. and Mrs. Redmond went to New York city, where they met Dr. H. G. Westphal, C. E. Kimlin and W. S. Salisbury, who are in the east in the interest of Glendale's new sanitarium. With them they spent several days sightseeing in and around New York and then went on to Albany, Niagara Falls, Detroit and Chicago.

Coming west, Mr. and Mrs. Redmond visited their old home at North Platte, Neb., where they met Mrs. W. A. Tanner of Glendale, who came on to California with them.

"Business activities in the east are pretty quiet," says Mr. Redmond, "in fact quieter than we in California realize. It takes a trip through the middle west and east for one to see that business is much slower there than on the Pacific coast."

TRIP TO LAGUNA BEACH

A group of Glendale people, who will motor to Laguna Beach for an all-day outing Sunday will include Mr. and Mrs. George B. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. O. Andresen, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hyse, Mrs. Nett Krider and Walter Schrader.

VISITING IN GLENDALE

Miss Helen Crain of Los Angeles has been spending the past week with Mrs. H. L. Baker at the E. Rumble home at 111 North Central avenue.

ENJOY BEACH OUTING

Mrs. C. E. Russell of North Kenwood drive motored to Santa Monica Friday taking the children for a beach outing.

May Pool Coal

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A government pooling of coal in the mine districts and the distribution of cars to carry it will be considered by a conference of coal operators called to meet in Washington next Monday, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced today.

Raid Four Banks

LONDON, July 22.—Four banks at Dundalk, forty-five miles northwest of Dublin, were raided this afternoon and large sums stolen, according to a dispatch from Dublin. Several unarmed priests, passing one of the banks, attempted to capture the raiders, but were warned off by the latter's pistols.

Seven Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 22.—Seven persons were killed early today when the fast "Meteor" Express No. 9, of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad ran into an open switch at Logan and crashed head on into the combined Katy and 'Frisco Special No. 2 which was standing on a siding.

Caution on Troops

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The caution which the government will observe in sending federal troops into coal strike areas was further emphasized today by the official announcement that troops will not be sent at the request of individual companies or operators, but only at the request or consent of the governor of the state concerned.

To Arrest White

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 22.—The arrest of William Allen White, widely known author and editor, will be made this afternoon, according to information from the county attorney's office. White, who is alleged to have violated the industrial court law of Kansas by displaying a striker's placard sympathizing with the strike, will not be served personally with the warrant, it was stated.

Owes $32,000,000

NEW YORK, July 22.—That Allan A. Ryan, who has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with $32,000,000 liabilities, is completely "broke," was emphasized today by the fact that his son has taken a job as "runner" or messenger for a Wall street brokerage firm. Although Allan A. Ryan's father, Thomas Fortune Ryan, is a multi-millionaire whose wealth nearly rivals that of Rockefeller, father and son have been estranged for years.

Camp Life Enjoyed By Glendale Guards

Word was received this morning from Herbert Lalley, assistant pressman of The Glendale Evening News, who is a member of Company "M," 160th infantry of the California National Guard, telling something of the doings of the Glendale men who are now at the annual summer training camp at Monterey. Glendale's two organizations, Company "M" and Headquarters company, Third battalion, arrived at the historic central California city at noon last Sunday, marching from the train to the camp grounds with full equipment.

Since Sunday Lalley states that "things have been pretty soft," with little or no drilling, the principal duty of the men being that of listening to instructors. Next week, however, promises to be more strenuous, as daily hikes and drills will probably be in order.

An interesting fact in the letter was the statement that more than 3000 state troops are now at the camp for their annual two weeks of intensive training. The famous Monterey polo grounds are being used as temporary drill fields.

Lalley ended his letter by writing that "We are having a dandy time and, best of all, we are getting lots of good eats."

REV. FORD TO SPEAK

Rev. E. E. Ford of 326 Fairview avenue has returned from the Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina and will preach tomorrow at both services in the Baptist church.

MATTISON B. JONES MAKES TALK TO KIWANIS CLUB

Altruism and Spirit of Southern California Is Subject of Address

"There is no limit to the possibilities of a community of virile men and women who really desire to accomplish something good."

Mattison B. Jones of 1901 Kenneth road, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, made this statement yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, before the members of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

"I want to assure you first, last and all the time," he continued, "that I am for a better community."

The introduction of Mr. Jones was made by City Manager W. H. Reeves, who remarked:

"If there is one citizen in this progressive city who has the respect and admiration, and I can go a little stronger, and say affection of every citizen, it is Mattison B. Jones. I know that many Republicans will vote for him just because of his splendid character."

Hears Demands Already

Mr. Jones arose from his seat at the head of the banquet table amid applause.

"I want a job on the railroad commission," came a stentorian voice from the end of the table which was later identified as the possession of C. D. Thom. As the laughter subsided, Mr. Jones smilingly replied:

"Before any man gets a job on the railroad commission, he has got to deliver the entire Kiwanis club to me."

A vote of thanks to Mr. Jones for leaving his office in Los Angeles to speak before the club was moved by E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who emphasized the sterling character of the guest of the occasion and titled him "the first citizen of our city."

"Altruism and the spirit of Southern California" was the theme of the short speech made by Mr. Jones. He commented upon the fact that the growth of Glendale is part of the larger expansion of this entire section of the country. He said that the cities of the northwest coast at

CHURCH LEADERS GET INSPIRATION

Local Presbyterians Attend Synod Now Being Held In City of Pasadena

Presbyterians of Glendale have been having a wonderful opportunity for religious inspiration brought to their doors in the sessions of the Synod of California and Arizona and the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Synodical, which has been meeting in Pasadena, in the opinion of Rev. W. E. Edmonds.

Mr. and Mrs. David Black and their daughter, Miss Esther Black of 1901 Kenneth Road, were among a number of representatives from the local Presbyterian congregations who attended yesterday's services.

"Leaders of note in the Presbyterian church are here from New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, San Francisco and other cities," remarked Mrs. Black. "Last night those who were present at the popular meeting in the First Presbyterian church of Pasadena had an opportunity to know and see what the Board of Home Missions is doing.

Interesting Address

"Rev. Dirk Lay, pastor of the largest Presbyterian church in Arizona, gave a most interesting address. The membership of this church is 1000 — and not pale faces but industrious Pima Indians who are farmers. The interest of the address was enhanced by having one of the Pima Indian elders speak in very good English to the large congregation.

"Dr. Spence, a medical missionary from Pt. Barrow, Alaska, also took part."

A statement prepared for publication by the official board of this church states that it has 1,735,000 representatives in this denomination and that this number is being increased every year. They support 1566 foreign missionaries and have under their charge in 16 foreign countries more than 2500 schools and colleges. In this country nearly 4,000 missionaries and teachers are being employed and notable work is being done among the foreign-speaking people of southern California.

PUT PEP PROGRAM OVER WITH BANG AT LEGION MEET

Censor Passes All Acts and Largest Crowd of Season Shows Appreciation

The largest crowd of Legionnaires of the season gathered last night at the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, at the special entertainment which had been arranged by the temporary program committee, consisting of Eddie Moniot, H. D. Charlton, Emil Kiefer and Gil A. Cowan, chairman, aided by others. The gathering was staged for the express purpose of instilling a little "pep" into lax members and get them "in the habit" of attending meetings, and was a complete success.

The first two numbers on the program consisted of a jazz contest between two quintets of syncopation artists, this novel feature being made possible through the liberality of the musicians, who generously donated their services for the occasion.

The personnel of the first group of "Gloom-killers" included the Gaiety Four, with the addition of Eddie Moniot at the banjo. The quartet, which is well known to local music lovers, was made up of Miss Marion Jones, piano; Herbert Brooks, violin; Merle Budd, saxophone; Phil Dillinger, drums.

Jazz? Yea! Yea!

The second group of "jazzin' houn's" was the California Orioles, who are the same ones who have been delighting Glendale terpsichorean followers at the Wednesday and Saturday night dances at the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway for several weeks. Their number included Harry Emme and Edward Thomas, saxophones; Guy Biddick, piano; Paul Bucks, banjo, and Owen Fallon, drums.

After several encore numbers from each orchestra, it was decided by the appreciative audience that the contest had ended in a tie.

The ex-service men were then treated to the most unique and original feature of the all-star program—namely, "Insights of an Artist's Model's Mode of Life." The act, which furnished several unusual thrills, was also donated to the "cause," it being in charge of R. S. "Van" Rensselaer, Los Angeles' commercial artist and for-

Girl Scouts, Troop 2, Doubles Membership

The Girl Scouts of Glendale, Troop No. 2, completed the organization of a second patrol Thursday afternoon, which doubles their membership.

The very enthusiastic out-door meeting was held in the grounds at the home of the Troop captain, Miss Vera Sinclair, 245 Sinclair avenue.

Arrangements were also completed for their first camping trip for which they will leave August 6 for Camp Baldy, where they will enjoy a week's outing. The girls will be accompanied by Miss Sinclair, and will be joined at the camp by Mrs. H. W. Walker, whose cabin they will occupy.

Charter members of the first patrol of this troop are Stella Roberts, Jean Ingram, Marian Letts, Nyla Chapman, Elizabeth Walker, Mabel Todd, Alberta Plasterer, Leona Hunt. Members of the new patrol are: Evelyn Edwards, Mabel Horner, Dorothea Humans, Dorothy Burch, Virginia Cribbs, Ruth Rames, Catherine Stanley and Margaret Allwelt.

Bathing Suits Are Need of Children

What good's a great big ocean or a swimming pool if you haven't got a bathing suit, is what the kiddies over at the Playa del Rey and Monte Vista Community Service homes are asking these hot days. Many of the little people have never had a bathing suit and Mrs. O. H. Belew of Glendale, a member of the Council of Community Service, is asking for bathing suits, new or old.

And after the plunge some fruit like mother cans would make the happiness complete for the home children and Mrs. Belew asks that the kiddies be remembered on canning day.

A bathing suit or jar of fruit will reach the homes if the donor will call Mrs. O. H. Belew at Glendale 2604-J or leave the package at the Roberts & Echols drug store, 102 East Broadway.

Frank Pyott Talks On Proposed Bill

Frank Pyott, secretary of the state chiropractic association, was the speaker last night at the regular monthly meeting of the San Fernando valley chiropractic association at the office of Dr. Clara E. Hewen. He spoke about the coming campaign with regard to the bill to be voted on in November with regard to the examination of chiropractors. Other speakers were Dr. R. M. Attwater of Burbank, Dr. Frances Eble of Glendale, and Dr. Virgil G. Pool of Los Angeles.

'Taxi Nish' Secures Citizenship Papers

"I wouldn't take $10,000 for these papers," remarked Nushon Bader Parsekian, known to his many Glendale friends as "Taxi Nish," yesterday, as he returned from Los Angeles with his naturalization papers tucked safely under his arm. "Nish" became a citizen of the United States through his service with the army during the late war.

Glendale's newest voter was born in Ban, Armenia, where he was left to shift for himself practically at the time he learned to talk, his father being killed in a rebellion against Turkey when "Nish" was but a year old. He came to this country in 1909, settling in Glendale about four years ago. His present home is at 119 West Broadway.

Parsekian was never aware of the fact that he had any brothers or sisters until 1913 when he was approached by a man claiming to be his brother. When the war broke out in 1915, however, the brother promptly joined the Russian volunteers and has not been heard from since.

Mrs. R. C. Horner Is Hostess to Visitors

Mrs. Joseph Mullineaux and sister, Miss Jeanette Forest of Philadelphia, who are guests over this week-end of their cousin, Mrs. R. C. Horner of West Broadway, are members of a personally-conducted party that is touring the entire west during this summer. They came to Los Angeles via Salt Lake City, also visiting Colorado Springs, Pike's Peak and Riverside, where they stopped at the Mission Inn.

Yesterday they spent the day at Catalina Island. Today and Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Horner will join the party in motoring to the different points of interest throughout southern California.

From here the travelers will go north to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Canada, and will stop at Lake Louise. They will return east over the Canadian Pacific.

Mrs. Howard Brown Is Hostess to Club

The Therapaya club of the First Presbyterian church Sunday school held its monthly social event last night at a party at the home of Mrs. Howard L. Brown of 408 North Maryland avenue. The first part of the evening was spent in conducting the regular business session, after which a program of music and games was enjoyed. Delicious ice-cream sandwiches were served during the gaiety.

Mrs. Brown's guests included Misses Helen Engle, Hope Ireland, Jewell McLaughlin, Phyllis Baker, Stella Bellue, Louise Hoit, Martha Eilers, Linda Goertz, Agnes Tupper, Mildred Cole, Margaret Fife and Annie Fuelscher.

IRISH FACTIONS RESUME FIGHT; DEATH LIST GROWS

DUBLIN, July 22.—Fighting broke out here today between free state and irregular troops when a detachment of irregulars attacked the Four Courts hotel. They were driven off after an interval of heavy fighting. Twenty men were killed at Limerick, according to a revised casualty estimate.

HOLD SUSPECTS FOR SLAYING OF DEPUTY SHERIFF

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—Two men arrested here today are being held for possible linking with the killing of Deputy Sheriff Patrick J. Nalty, 50, and seriously wounding Patrolman Ross Jonson, 45, in a gun battle at Granite City, Ill., early this morning. Witnesses have identified the men as the ones who did the shooting.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN FIGHT WITH FOUR BURGLARS

NEW YORK, July 22.—Arthur Loewe, 26, a policeman and former world war aviator, was shot four times and seriously wounded early today when, single-handed, he fought a pitched battle with four burglars in Brooklyn. Judging by the trails of blood leading from the scene of the encounter, it is believed that Loewe wounded at least three of the four men.

ADVISES LLOYD GEORGE TO VISIT WASHINGTON

LONDON, July 22.—Premier Lloyd George has been urged by his closest advisers to go to Washington as the head of the British debt funding commission to discuss world affairs with President Harding in order to make up for his absence from the Washington conference, but the suggestion was rejected by the premier, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

FARMER AT WORK STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE

REDDING, Cal., July 22.—As E. B. North motored through Siskiyou county, east of Hornbrook, he noticed a team attached to a mower stopped in the hay field and the driver leaning forward in his seat as though asleep. North investigated and found the driver dead. He was Jefferson Greive, 72, a farmer in Siskiyou county for fifty years. He had apparently been stricken with heart failure as he worked.

BRITAIN ENTERS PROTEST AGAINST RAIL SEIZURE

PEKING, July 22.—Great Britain today entered formal protest with the Peking government against the seizure of the rolling stock of the Peking-Mukden railway line by Chang Tso Lin, who has never released it since his withdrawal to Manchuria. It was security for a foreign loan. Five foreign legations including the American, today reported to the foreign office the non-payment of the debts to foreign nationals, now far past due.

NO FURTHER SLIDE LIKELY IN YOSEMITE, BELIEF

YOSEMITE VALLEY, Cal., July 22.—Government officials today determined that the slide on Ledge trail which injured several persons yesterday was due to the loosening of rock by rain, and declared no further slide is likely. Ledge trail, always considered dangerous to travel, was closed temporarily owing to the avalanche, and will not be opened until a thorough investigation shows no other loose rock remaining which could be dislodged. All other trails in the national park are open as usual.

VICTIMS OF DOUBLE TRAGEDY BURIED TOGETHER

REDDING, Cal., July 22.—By strange coincidence, M. P. Rose, 80, former district attorney of Shasta county, and Jeffrey Hildreth, 62, victims of a double tragedy near Carrville yesterday in which Rose shot and killed his former friend, Hildreth, and later committed suicide after being arrested for the murder, will both be buried in Fall River Mills, 180 miles away. The wives of both are buried in that town, where Rose and Hildreth lived twenty years ago. Three sons of Rose have arrived in Redding from Oakland to arrange for their father's funeral.

MRS. CAFFEE BROUGHT BEFORE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Further details of the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows by Mrs. Clara Phillips, accused of the act, that have hitherto been withheld, were the subject of a conference today between Chief Deputy District Attorney W. C. Doran and Mrs. Peggy Caffee, confessed eyewitness to the slaying. Mrs. Caffee's appearance at the district attorney's office was under heavy guard, the prosecution having announced it would take every precaution to prevent her being made the victim of an alleged plot to be slain or kidnaped. A thorough search was under way today for the bootlegger who is said to have sold Mrs. Phillips a small quantity of liquor the day before the crime was committed. He is said to be well known in theatrical circles and to have been involved in bootlegging activities before.

HARDING SEEKS EXACT FACTS ON STRIKE SITUATION

WASHINGTON, July 22.—With the arrival here today of Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railway labor board, for a conference with President Harding, the determination of the government that the strike must be settled at once if the country is to escape economic chaos, became all the more apparent. That the government has placed the rail strike ahead of the coal strike in its menacing possibilities, there was no longer any doubt. The coal strike, serious as it is, has been temporarily taken care of by placing the responsibility on the mine owners and the individual states, but the rail walkout will not admit of such treatment. President Harding called Hooper to Washington, it was said, because he wanted first hand account of what has happened and an exact interpretation of the attitude of both carriers and strikers. The president, it was said, was tired of getting conflicting advice and opinions as to the basic, underlying cause of the present crisis.

YOUNG WHITNEY'S ACCUSER EVASIVE IN INTERVIEW

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Evasive and refusing to answer direct questions concerning her tangled affairs with Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney, wealthy New York sportsman, beautiful Evan Burrows Fontaine, central figure of two actions said to have been filed in New York against young Whitney, which involves the paternity of her 19-months-old baby boy, and his refusal to marry her, refused today to comment on the matter. "I have been away from New York for several weeks and really am not in close touch with the case," said the former Follies girl and the star of "The Spices of 1922," in an interview today in her apartment at a local hotel before her breakfast had been served. The attractive dancer had little to say of the details of her romance with young Whitney further than to admit that at one time she had been very much in love with him, following their meeting in 1919 at a ball given by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Miss Fontaine professed she was unaware of the fact that Whitney was supposed to be somewhere in southern California, but admitted that she had met him in a San Francisco hotel lobby last week and had spoken to him in passing. She also said that after meeting him he called her by telephone and asked to see her but that she refused. She denied emphatically that she had discussed the present difficulties with him.

CITY'S NEW PARK BEING IMPROVED FOR OUTING

Municipal Officials Making Every Effort to Have the Grounds in Readiness

The work of improving the new municipal park is proceeding at a good pace, according to City Manager W. H. Reeves, who is making daily trips of inspection.

Every effort is being made to have the premises in creditable condition for the big picnic under the auspices of the Glendale Merchants' association on August 16, when the park will be officially dedicated as a playground for the grown-ups of the community.

No secret is being made of the fact that poison oak has been discovered—a great plenty. A large gang of men from the street department is now at work in an attempt to annihilate a large part of it. Their efforts are being confined at present to grubbing out the vines in which the picnickers would be most likely to come in contact. So far no case of poison oak has been reported by the workers.

Pavilion Being Planned

Plans for a pavilion were gone over this morning by Mr. Reeves, C. L. Hill, city engineer; John F. Johannsen, chief daughtsman, and Leonard DeWard, foreman of the street department.

A pencil sketch of a proposed building was submitted and approved tentatively. This provides for a floor 80 by 48 feet in size or 4040 square feet. Sides would be open except for benches around the perimeter and the roof would be of the simplest type in order to reduce cost.

Construction of this building will be done by employes of the city under the direction of Mr. DeWard. If its erection is decided upon, work upon it will be started next week in order to lose no time.

The estimated cost of this structure is $1745.83. This amount would be invested by the city with the expectation of receiving a portion of it back in rent from park concessions nearby.

Movable Platform

A large platform 14 by 48 feet in size is included in the plans. This is in four movable sections which can be used at the end of the pavilion for a stage or in the center as a band stand.

The pavilion will be very desirable for open-air bazaars and fetes, according to officials. It will be available at all times for Christian Endeavor socials and open-air meetings of the Ladies' Aid societies. When chairs are in place about 750 people can be accommodated at lectures and open-air musicals.

The floor is being properly prepared so that it may be used for dancing. It is intended to make the pavilion of general civic utility. However, so far nothing has been said about Judge F. H. Lowe holding court out there.

HOTEL FINANCING ABOUT COMPLETE

Anyone Want Honor of Being Buyer of Last Bonds? Prepare Specifications

Who desires to have the honor of buying the last $3800 worth of bonds for the new hotel?

That is what C. W. Ingledue, president of the East Glendale Advancement association, and members of the local hotel committee would like to know.

First payments of funds are scheduled to go into escrow Monday at 1 o'clock and Mr. Ingledue asserted this morning positively that Glendale's share would be ready. He did not indicate from what source he expected the extra subscriptions to come. However, he is convinced that it will be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, specifications are being prepared in the office of Architect H. H. Lockridge to cover the blue prints. No serious changes have been made in the plans, according to report.

Several of the arcade stores are to be combined and it is understood that the Harry White company, Inc., of 1800 South San Fernando road has spoken for two of them as display rooms for the Reo.

A number of people have expressed an interest in the apartments and the heads of three families have asked for preference in assignment. Judge George H. Shellenberger of Los Angeles, who has known H. J. Tremaine since he was a small boy, has asked for one. S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard and F. H. Vesper of 321 East Lomita avenue have spoken favorably of moving.

C. F. PARKER QUALIFIES

According to lists published in the morning papers, C. F. Parker of 221 North Central avenue, Glendale, was the only Republican in the Sixty-first Assembly district to qualify for the county central committee, a rather remarkable fact in view of the decided effort to put over certain candidates.

SPECIAL SERVICE HELD BY W. C. T. U.

Glendale Members Meet to Pay Tribute on Birthday of Anna Gordon

A meeting of the Glendale W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon with Mrs. Edith Dockeray of South Louise street, celebrated the birthday of the international W. C. T. U. president, Miss Anna Gordon of Evanston, Ill.

Songs written by Miss Gordon were sung during the afternoon and tributes paid to her work by Mrs. Marie Yeoman, county president, and Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president of the Glendale W. C. T. U., both of whom know Miss Gordon personally.

A feature of the afternoon was the service of the white ribbon recruits. Mrs. Yeoman directed the service and white ribbons were pinned on Ralph William Penland, Phyllis Edith and Geraldine Beatrice Dockeray. The service closed with a prayer and singing of "When He Cometh."

An enjoyable part of the program was a group of vocal selections by Mrs. Margaret Hinman.

Honorees of the afternoon were all members having birthdays in July. They were seated about a long table, with a huge birthday cake for a centerpiece. Those so honored and their native states were: Mrs. Marie M. Yeoman, Canada; Mrs. L. M. Warner, Illinois; Mrs. Flora Lemon, Ohio; Mrs. Cora Pettit, Iowa; Mrs. Leora Hedley, South Dakota; Mrs. Henry Nicholas, Louisiana; Mrs. C. W. Bacon, Massachusetts; Mrs. Sarah Thomas, California.

VIRGINIAN GETS IN MURDER CASE

John H. Raney of Eagle Rock Said to Have Sold Mrs. Phillips Gun

John H. Raney, in charge of the gun department in one of the big sporting goods stores in Los Angeles, whom it is stated, unknowingly sold a .25 caliber automatic pistol to Mrs. Clara Phillips, the defendant in the latest Los Angeles gruesome murder case, is a resident of Eagle Rock.

Mr. Raney lives on North Peyton avenue, coming here several years ago from Petersburg, Va., the little southern city situated some thirty miles from Richmond. It was on the main street of Petersburg, down which "Stonewall" Jackson, marched at the head of Confederate troops, when he spied Barbara Fritchie, flaunting the United States flag above them from her bedroom window. This famous episode, made immortal by the poem, stamps Petersburg with one of the most historical events in the history of the nation.

Another Virginian

Another Eagle Rock resident, H. I. DeVal, connected with the Kelsey plumbing establishment at 204 East Colorado boulevard also is a native of old Virginia. His acquaintance with Mr. Raney dates back to their boyhood days spent together along the banks of the Appomattox. Now that he and his boyhood friend are both residents of Eagle Rock, this friendship of long standing has been renewed.

Mr. DeVal says that Mr. Raney will shrink from the publicity attached to his indirect connection with the murder case. It was Mr. Raney's reputation as one of the best all around sportsmen of the south that led to his responsible position with the sporting goods house.

His knowledge of firearms is said to be unequaled, and he is considered an expert in that line, it is stated, and in addition to this he is a crack revolver shot. Around Catalina Island he holds a record as a fisherman, having hooked one of the largest albicores ever caught in those waters.

Man Wants $25,000 for His Lost Love

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — What value is to be placed upon a man's damaged affections?

Charlie Bondi estimates that about $25,000 in cold cash would be right.

According to papers filed through his attorneys in court, Bondi is attempting to recover this amount from Lena Danna, who, he alleges in his complaint, entered into a perfectly good agreement to marry him. Bondi further claims that, after he had purchased kitchen utensils, household furniture and expended certain sums of money for fruit and flowers, the lady in the case suddenly suffered a change of mind.

The story leaked out, Bondi was laughed at by his friends, and the suit is the result.

A Little Princess Writes

By Gil A. Cowan

IT is interesting to hear stories of success. That told by W. E. Hewitt of the Glendale Laundry in speaking before the Rotary club proves a point:

"Those who stick to their home town and remain unperturbed by adversity, or competition, or the thousand and one difficulties entering into industry, win out in the end."

Well do I remember what a sapling concern the Valley Lumber company was when the Bentley-Schoeneman interests took charge. And look at it today; the same is true with Fox-Woodsum's success and the same will be true for others who "stick with the ship," as the old saying goes.

There were days when $25 looked big to many of the firms in Glendale now, you bet. So W. E. Hewitt's story is only typical of many which might be told.

When he assumed management in 1913, the plant was doing $600 business per week. Within 30 days it dropped to $200 a week, due to causes beyond his control. The payroll was $325 weekly and difficulties had only commenced.

But the uphill fight has been won and now he has equipped a laundry worth more than $100,000, with payroll and commissions amounting to ten times that of 1913, and a profit which is put back into the business in service and machinery.

The American Legion, a stalwart group of former service men, have only begun to make itself felt as a power. Having established the confidence of the public in the permanency of their organization and proceeded to battle for the bonus, legislation for the disabled and otherwise represent themselves in the state and nation, it is only to be expected that the members, as individuals, are going to be a big factor in political life.

However, a candidate for office cannot win on the basis of being a former service man alone, or because of the support of that group. He must be pre-eminently fitted for the place, prove his ability and integrity by experience and then give full service for the interest of all.

The News is the recipient of numerous compliments for the choice features now being presented readers. Of course, they are gratifying, but there is one thing for those who enjoy the full local news, leased wire and special articles appearing in this paper to keep foremost in their minds. That is, recommend The News to the newcomers and the few in Glendale who are not getting it through our inability to reach them all at one time.

Here is real romance for you as chronicled by The Red Cross Courier:

"That correspondence carried on between American and European schools through the Junior Red Cross is to some children a vivid personal experience is illustrated by a story of letters passing between a Minnesota boy and a real princess.

"Some months ago there was a story of Princess Ileana, of Rumania, in the "Junior Red Cross News," and a small boy in a Minnesota rural school, which subscribes to "The News," was much impressed by the story. Without telling his teacher the boy wrote a letter to the Princess and she answered it. The teacher when calling at the boy's home read the letter from the Princess, but was warned by the mother that the boy did not want the other children to know of it for fear they might make fun of him. But they didn't!"

AT ARROWHEAD LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Reichard and children of Valley View Road spent several days this week at Arrowhead lake. They report that the new resort is growing rapidly and gives promise of being one of the finest pleasure spots in the southern California mountains.

RADIO EXPLAINED
By E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL

RADIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFIER WITH TRANSFORMER COUPLING

In the diagram herewith is the complete circuit of a radio frequency amplifier with transformer coupling. The circuit is shown with air core transformers, although some success has been had with transformers employing specially constructed iron cores. When reasonably large amplification can be secured by the use of any given iron core transformer there is some advantage, due to increased stabilization. In any case, however, whether the core be air, iron or soft steel, the distributed capacity of the windings should be a minimum, so that there may be no losses due to low capacitive reactance across either output or input circuits of the amplifier tubes. For this reason the transformers cannot be designed to step up the voltages applied to their primaries to as great an extent as with audio frequency amplification. The use of properly designed transformers is, however, conducive to ease of operation, even though some efficiency may be sacrificed. If iron cores are used hysteresis losses in the cores become of great importance, especially at the very high radio frequencies, corresponding to the shorter waves. The laminations of the core must be very thin and a special grade of steel used.

In the case of transformer coupled amplifiers more stages are required for a given amplification with radio frequency than with audio frequency. More power in the plate circuits must, therefore, be provided, since the drain is greater. On the other hand, there is the advantage of clearer signals —that is, freedom from low frequency noises. If the leads of all circuits are kept as short as possible and the grid circuits kept at as great distances as possible from the plate circuits, regenerating effects will be kept at a minimum and tendency to "howl" will be decreased.

Since there is no hysteresis loss when air core coupling transformers are used, they are to this extent, at least, to be preferred to iron core transformers. It must be remembered, however, that all transformer windings have some distributed capacity which cannot be entirely eliminated, and that this results in maximum amplification being obtained at certain frequencies. In many cases, it is found that superior over all results are obtained with air cores.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES
By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

A NEW AND IMPROVED ELECTRO MAGNETIC AMPLIFIER

Loud speakers, of which there are a great number, are being constantly improved upon, and many new additions to the present field are arriving to make their debut to the radio public.

A recent development in the electro-magnetic type, which gives machine giving the same volume, surprising clarity of tone and brilliancy in reproduction, is our topic. Employing the controlled mica diaphragm idea, with the addition of being able to stand much higher B battery voltages, the receiver part is finished up substantially and nickel plated throughout.

Over all height, twenty-five inches. Base and tone arm are of polished mahogany. The neck is made of heavy metal, and the bell is constructed of heavy spun aluminum, conforming to the best practices in acoustic engineering.

This type of loud speaker does not require any power, simply plug the device in the place where the telephones are used. This is especially attractive to those who have limited space for their radio outfit.

Parts constituting this instrument are sold separately, so that the sound box may be purchased alone and an adaptor fitted to the phonograph. The same company also sells these adaptors. Price is lower than an electro-dynamic

Club Royal Dances to Be Invitational

The Third Club Royal dance of the season will be given tonight in the Woman's Club house, Eagle Rock. "Bode" music will predominate as usual. This popular saxaphonist and his orchestra are making an instantaneous hit and much publicity has been given Eagle Rock and its beautiful Woman's Club through these delightful dances. Last Saturday night, fifty couple attended and one hundred are expected tonight. Bids will be issued tonight and from then on these dances will be invitational only.

Transfers of Service

Transfer of light and water service has been requested by the following residents and orders are now on file in the public service department at the city hall: D. S. English, 437 Ivy street, 819 South Central avenue; L. R. Morrow, 602 West Elk street, 323 West Patterson avenue; B. L. Cline, 720 East Windsor road, 134 North Orange street; B. E. Ball, 106A East Broadway, to Alhambra.

Installation of meters has been requested by the following: Henry Johnston, 115 North Everett street; E. R. Dristle, 512 Griswold street; W. L. Russell, 339 West Maple street; E. S. Calvert, 611 East Maple street; E. E. Green, 1747 Tenth street; W. E. Wells, 411 Lincoln street; Paul Lecomte, 915 1-2 Mountain street; R. Pennell, 518 Commercial street; J. S. Pearce, 1228 North Central avenue; Nathan Rigdon, 1220 North Central avenue.

Service is desired by the following: D. S. English, 819 South Central avenue; A. S. Reynolds, 218 South Louise street; G. R. Chick, 343 Ivy street; Roxy Farrand, 126 North Everett street; R. C. Wilson, 421 North Brand boulevard; Joseph Roya, 107 East Eulalia avenue; C. P. Smirl, 410 1-2 West California avenue; J. H. Simmons, 707 North Kenwood street.

BEEFSTEAK DINNER

Another beefsteak dinner in Brookside park, Pasadena, is to be enjoyed tonight by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pratt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frehm, Mrs. Ella Richardson and Miss Barrett of Los Angeles.

China Will Abolish Rut-Making Carts

PEKING. — An effort will be made by the engineering department of the Peking municipal government to abolish the use of the famous "Peking carts" which play such havoc with the roads of the capital and which make road improvements everywhere in China almost an impossibility.

Imagine three or four tons of grain packed high on a cart of only two wheels, with those two wheels sometimes not more than an inch wide and shod with strips of iron; imagine the cutting power of those wheels and the rapidity with which the roads will be sawed to pieces, as cart after cart, drawn sometimes by as many as eight beasts of burden, pass day after day, always following the same ruts. In Peking the paved thoroughfares are closed to these "engines of destruction" and the struggles of the mules and horses in the deep ruts and bogs of the earth roads are incredible.

Out in the country places, where there are as yet no paved roads, there is no salvation, and as time goes by the ruts go deeper and deeper, until it is at last abandoned for new ground or sinks out of sight.

The American Red Cross, in building roads for famine relief during the last few years, has attempted to introduce broad tired wheels to replace the narrow knife-edge of those now in use. It has been found that wheels three or four inches broad, shod with broad iron band "shrunk" on, instead of nailed on, as are the strips of iron at present, will pack down and smooth the road surface with the action of rollers, and improve the condition of the road rather than harm it. No very great success, however, has attended the efforts to have the farmers introduce these means to "better roads".

China, however, is not very different from any other country, nor are the Chinese very different from other people. As in America the introduction of automobiles made the need for good roads actually felt, so in China the same thing is having the same result.

Negro National Bank Opened In Chicago

CHICAGO—The first and only national bank in the United States, if not the world, whose officers and stockholders are negroes, is open for business here. It is known as the Douglass National Bank, is capitalized at $200,000 and is a member of the Federal Reserve system. More than a score of negro lodges and organizations throughout the country have made it their depository. It is located in the heart of the black belt, where negroes own stores, theatres and thousands of homes.

Bear Defeats Cow In Terrific Battle

BLOOMSBURG, Pa.—A black bear that weighed 350 pounds and a cow in a pasture on North Mountain battled half an hour in a terrific fight. The bear won. Then William Temple killed the bear. Temple, with a keen regard for the law, reported the fact he had killed the bear to the county game warden, because it was the closed season on bears. As there were "extenuating circumstances," the warden absolved Temple.

PAGE NOLL BUSY BUILDING HOUSES

Sells Eagle Rock Property As Fast As Construction Will Permit

Page Noll, who recently came from Los Angeles to make his home in Eagle Rock, has entered the building business with great acceleration, according to J. B. Brown.

Mr. Noll in the short time that he has been here has already established a record hard to equal. Within the last two weeks Mr. Noll has sold three homes that he had in the course of construction before the water meters were installed, an examination of the plans by the purchaser being all that was necessary to close the transaction, it is stated.

Friday, two more families decided to make their homes here, being attracted through the efforts of Mr. Noll, and contracts were signed for two more dwelling houses.

No let up whatever is noticed in the building business according to Mr. Noll, who states that the J. B. Brown company who does his building, have at this time approximately $75,000 in buildings under construction in Eagle Rock.

If this were all tied up in one big building in the downtown district, it would be the talk of the town, according to Mr. Noll.

Kingsley & Son Get Sale of Carburetors

Kingsley & Son, proprietors of the Day and Night garage at 217 East Broadway, Glendale, announce that they have taken over the sales of Winfield carburetors for California, Arizona and other states, except in the far eastern part of the country. Mr. Kingsley already has gone on the road for the line, as well as representing D. & N. storage batteries which will be manufactured in Glendale. The Winfield carburetors are made here by Winfield & Durand.

More than 300 standard parts are in actual use by automobile manufacturers in the United States.

Miss Mathilda Imthurm of Los Angeles is spending several days in Glendale as the guest of Mrs. Oscar Denison of 326 Mira Loma avenue. Miss Imthurm recently came to California from her former home in Peoria, Ill., where she was formerly a neighbor of Mrs. Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Olmstead of Pacific avenue, had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank Easton of Mexico City. Mr. Easton is chief engineer of the Mexican Light & Power company and he and Mrs. Easton are en route to Vancouver, B. C., for a vacation visit.

Mrs. John Dunn of 446 West Colorado boulevard reports that her father, Stanley Frentz of this city, who left Glendale June 1 on a four-months' automobile tour throughout the western states, is now in Neahbay, Washington, where he is enjoying a real out-of-door life. He states that he has not lost any of his art in fishing, having caught a string of forty trout at Camp Lewis last week.

More Homes in City! Slogan for Glendale

More homes in Glendale is the inspiration the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company is endeavoring to arouse in the hearts of old and new residents and urging this idea Donald R. Gillin, service manager of the company, says:

"Many years ago an American traveling in India was taken sick, died and was buried in that foreign land. Some thirty years later the United States government sent a man-of-war to India to bring the body to its native country for burial. The casket, draped in the American flag, was placed aboard the warship, which with colors half-mast, sailed for New York.

"Upon arrival in New York harbor the body was placed on a special train and carried to the capitol at Washington, D. C., for interment. Out of respect for the deceased, the United States congress and senate adjourned. As the body was carried up Pennsylvania avenue the president of the United States, with head bared, stood at review. Following the funeral procession were United States congressmen, senators, supreme court justices, cabinet ministers, foreign ambassadors and a host of people in less prominent walks of life. Who was this man so highly honored? A great statesman? A renowned jurist? A captain of industry? A noted diplomat? A great general? He was none of these. His name was John Howard Paine, the man who wrote the song, 'Home, Sweet Home.'

"Home, sweet home means so much to the individual and to the nation, and yet in practically every section of the United States there is a shortage of homes; numbering, it is estimated, over 2,000,000.

"In some sections of the country great building activities are under way, but the building that is being done merely to relieve for a short time the housing situation alone is not all that is necessary and is not all that should receive attention. The Bentley Schoeneman Lumber company, with their free plans to customers, render a service which makes it possible for the homebuilder to build architectually correct in every detail. Build now and build right! Let's make Glendale a still better place in which to live."

Missouri Youth Will Marry His Guardian

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Wedding bells will ring in the near future for Frank Miley, nineteen, the ward of Mrs. Halla Miley, thirty, who will become the youngster's bride.

The bride-to-be is the legal guardian of her future husband. Both of them have the same name. When the happy pair applied for their marriage license at the Greene county courthouse Mrs. Miley gave her permission for Frank's marriage to her.

The woman showed court attendants a certified copy of her appointment as guardian for her husband-to-be. The appointment was made in the probate court of Shannon county.

In addition to Frank, Mrs. Miley was appointed guardian of five other Miley children, she said.

Three Infants Cost Association $1 Each

BOSTON.—Three babies born during the past year to graduates of Boston University cost the Alumni association $3.

The association had agreed to pay $1 for every alumni baby born during the year.

The results were made known at the annual alumni reunion at Lassell Seminary grounds, with 400 graduates present. The class of 1911 was awarded a silver cup for the largest number of members present.

The class of 1877 had ten members out of seventeen living members present. Among them were Mrs. Helen Magill White of Ithaca, N. Y., the first woman to receive the degree of doctor of philosophy from the university.

PLAYING OF YANK CHANGES VIEWS OF BRITISHERS

Victory of Walter Hagen Causes Englishmen to Revise Estimate

By ANTHONY SPALDING
For International News Service.

LONDON, July 22.—The victory of Walter Hagen in the open golf championship, and the consistently brilliant game played by Jim Barnes and Jock Hutchison have caused British golfers to revise our estimate of American golfing values. In this trio America has a triumvirate such as we had in Vardon, Taylor and Braid.

One would have liked one of our countrymen to have been on top, but it is a lean sporting spirit which does not recognize in these men three great golfers, armed at all points, the like of whom has not arisen for a very long period of years.

The history of championships shows that in the palmy days of Vardon, Taylor and Braid one or other set the standard of play and maintained it, with the result that other, in trying to keep up the pace, cracked and fell by the wayside. That is precisely the story of the play at Sandwich.

Significant Unity

All hit the ball to the strategic point, hit it to the green, and not only hit it on the green but hit it into the hole.

This significant unity between the long and short games is often missing among our players at the supreme moment. Putting for pleasure and putting for a living are two different tastes, but the poking, prodding and stabbing at the ball from a distance of two or five feet is amazing among a class of highly accomplished golfers.

It is inconceivable that any golfer, regardless of his handicap, could do worse than some of the exhibitions I have witnessed this week.

Duncan Incomparable

We have, of course, Duncan, incomparable, impetuous, capable of rising to dizzy heights, and, also sometimes capable of playing a game in which there is a distinct trace of impotence. Of him I wrote recently that he was ever invading some region of singularity, good or bad, but he was always doing something.

In the morning 81, and then to start out to do a 67 to win! That he did 69 does not diminish his glory. He had a chance to tie but his ball, just off the green, was lying in a place from where members of St. George's say it is extremely difficult to get dead.

Even his fanatical admirers remained mute, while others scorned the possibility of his even breaking 70. He was down and done for.

Braid's Comment

Like the dying dolphin which turns into brilliant colors, Duncan excelled all his other inspired and glorious rounds, and incidentally showed how good a judge is Braid of Duncan's temperament. "He will never win a championship until he has to fight for the lead, and not to keep it."

The moral of the championship is that until our young golfers pay vastly more attention to the art of putting the Americans are likely to recapture the honor.

The putting of the American amateurs at Hoylake last year was beyond reproach. Every day on the green Hagen sank long putts, and with them sank British hopes.

Failure to wash a car will spoil its appearance in a short time.

Joe Lynch Is Fourth Champion to Come Back After Having Met Old Man Defeat

When Joe Lynch recently forced his former conqueror, Johnny Buff, to throw up the sponge in the fourteenth round of their scheduled fifteen-round battle, it was the fourth time in ring history that a fallen champion had regained his lost laurels.

Following his defeat at the hands of Buff about a year ago Lynch determined to get another crack at the world's bantamweight crown, directing all of his efforts to the championship battle.

Lynch's friends are now of the sincere opinion that their favorite's defeat was the result of lack of training, something that he will never allow.

Double barreled champions being somewhat of a vogue, Lynch would like to step out now and get himself two titles. The new bantamweight champion is looking with fond eyes at the crown of Johnny Kilbane, which has been regarded as in a mood to slip off for several years.

"Kilbane says he wants to defend his title at 122 pounds, the same weight at which he won it. Well, Joe'll take him on any time he wants to go," said Eddie Mead, manager of the bantam king today.

"Right," echoed the king.

MONDT WINS OVER HACKENSCHMIDT IN HARD BOUT

Local Wrestler, After Making Great Showing, Injures Arm and Quits.

Joe "Toots" Mondt last night scored a victory over John Hackenschmidt, local wrestler, when the latter injured his arm and was forced to give up the match. The two grappled for 1 hour and 17 minutes and it was generally conceded that if it had not been for Hack's unfortunate injury, the match would have gone on for the full two hours and would have resulted in a draw.

About 200 local fans and a number of Los Angelenos, including several well known wrestlers, witnessed the match, which was held in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway. Two wrestling preliminaries preceded the main event.

In the first preliminary Eddie Hesser and Joe Bowers, both of Glendale, wrestled fifteen minutes to a draw. "Mick" Miller, well known wrestler who came out from Los Angeles, refereed this as well as the other and the main events.

Local Boy In Match

In the second, Walter Dodge, popular local boy, took on Eddie Waggenger of Pasadena. Walt displayed rare science in breaking Waggenger's holds, but the Pasadenan had it on the local grappler and Waggenger was awarded a fall at the end of 16 minutes 3 seconds.

Before the main event "Mick" Miller was introduced and issued a challenge to the winner of the match to meet him at some future date, probably on a local mat. Harry E. White was the announcer, and Richard Allen was timekeeper for the event. "Hack" entered the ring some fifteen or twenty pounds lighter than Mondt.

The two went at it without delay, and it was soon discovered that they were exceptionally well matched. Hack was quick and sure with his holds, and Toots showed his long wrestling experience, taking considerable punishment from Hackenschmidt at times, but never losing his calm and calculating manner.

Takes Punishment

At one juncture, so entwined were the two at the edge of the mat that they were unable to break away and it was necessary for Miller to pry their feet apart.

Hackenschmidt, while punishing Toots severely with headlocks and toe holds, took considerable punishment also, and after about an hour and a quarter of steady wrestling he went down near the edge of the mat with Toots on top. Hack's right elbow struck the floor beyond the mat as he fell, and Toots immediately locked it in a scissors, bringing a lot of weight and leverage to bear.

At the same time Toots had a side arm chancery on Hack's head and was dealing the smaller man some punishment. Hack fought for some little time, but was securely locked and unable to use his right arm. Ligaments around the elbow were torn, it was afterward determined, and Hack was forced to concede the fall. Due to his injuries the match was not continued.

Praise for Hackenschmidt

Interviewed immediately after the match, Mondt said: "That Hackenschmidt is the strongest man I have ever wrestled, with the exception of one or two like Zbyszko who are exceptional. I never in the world could beat Hackenschmidt in two hours if he had some heavy men to train with beforehand. In addition to his strength, Hack knows a lot about wrestling, and I was using everything I had during the entire match."

Hackenschmidt's arm was immediately treated and it is expected that it will be healed within a few weeks, when he may appear again. The Miller-Mondt match, if Miller wrestles the winner, has not been arranged.

Harry E. White, announcer of the affair, when asked what he thought of the match, stated: "I consider that it was a very good match. I feel sure that if Hackenschmidt had not been injured in the fall that the affair would have gone on to the two-hour limit and resulted in a draw."

Tagging All Bases

Bob Meusel took no part in the Yankees 7 to 5 victory over the Tigers beyond the fact that he drove in five runs and scored the other two in person with two singles, a triple and a home run. Bush was rushed off the premises when the Tigers scored all their runs, Cobb and Veach hitting successive homers.

Your Uncle Robbie managed to get a well-pitched game for the first time in weeks and it was just his luck that he must meet Alexander at his best. Alexander confined the Dodgers' attack to four hits while the Cubs got to Reuther for six and the only run of the game.

Ring passed six men in less than three innings and as a result the Phils finished second to the Pirates for the third straight time, 6 to 0. Morrison pitched great ball.

THE TURF KING

Harry Payne Whitney, who could sweep the eastern tracks as clean as a banker's shirt front if he cared to send his eligibles to the post from day to day, seems to have turf honors for 1922 tucked away in his vest pocket.

Whiskaway, twice victor over Morvich by impressive margins, is the probable three-year-old champion of the season, and Tryster either is the speediest of the sprinters or Arthur Duffey had a club-foot.

Prudish, another Whitney entry, won the Coaching Oaks recently with such facility as to make her appear the best of the fillies, barring form reversals.

The two-year-olds alone are not dominated by the Whitney stable, largely because supremacy in that division is rarely determined until the late season.

SPORTSMANSHIP

According to all accounts Mlle. Lenglen has conceived a deep-seated antipathy for America and Americans and never again will appear here on the tennis courts because she resents the garlands of wild razzberries flung in her direction during her last visit.

Suzanne figures that she proved by her victory over Mrs. Mallory at Wimbledon that she was really ill upon the occasion of her memorable default at Forest Hills. Therefore, American criticism was not justified.

The point is poorly taken. Americans never doubted that Suzanne was not in top form at Forest Hills, but they did feel affronted when the French girl essayed to make the impending Mallory triumph look cheap by flaunting whatever indisposition she may have experienced in the face of the crowd.

This ill-advised display went contrary to all the ethics of competitive sport. Consider, for example its contrast with the demeanor of Francis Ouimet, who came out on the links of the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, for a match with Chick Evans in the national amateur golf championship of 1919 burning with fever.

"How do you feel?" Evans asked as they met on the first tee.

"Never felt better in my life, Chick," was the reply.

As a matter of fact, Ouimet never felt worse, but he did not want to cheapen an Evans victory or enhance the value of his own by proclaiming his lack of condition.

JUST AMONG FRIENDS

As we understand it, Mrs. Mallory had no unpleasant words with Mlle. Lenglen after the latter's victory at Wimbledon. She only told Suzanne what she thought of her.

Poor old, broken-down Ty Cobb. Here he has been around the American league circuit for seventeen years and he hasn't learned to hit much beyond .400 yet. Ty might as well give up. He ought to know that if he can't better .500 in seventeen years there isn't much hope for him.

In the days of the once great English "Sheffield Handicap" which used to be to professional fast-racing what the Davis cup is to tennis today, many great sprinters were known to the world. The present generation of track enthusiasts knows nothing of these old-time events. Not knowing of these and other past track history it is natural the present-day sports followers live in the present only and therefore, when Paddock makes or breaks some former amateur mark he is naturally and properly hailed as a wonder.

The Sheffield handicap was 150 yards, and the winner was always credited with his time from the handicap mark. It is this fact that causes present-day athletes to wonder how such distances as 132 3-4 yards, 14: 1-2 yards, etc., ever got on the books. There were many famous sprinters in those events and they could without exception run many yards inside "even time." For instance in 1865 Frank Hewitt was the reigning professional and his Sheffield start he was allowed eight yards and ran his 142 yards in 13 3-4 seconds. Charlie McIvor was the first American to win a Sheffield in the early 80's. He was placed on 132 3-4 yards and ran the distance in 12 2-5 seconds. These are just two of many examples of the phenomena lspeed of sprinters of other days.

Paddock today stands out as the first man in the world to break 21 seconds for 220 yards and his 20 4-5 for the distance never has been excelled by the professionals. The best "pro" furlong on record was made in 1913 by Donaldson in 21 1-10, this being 1-10 better than the former amateur record which Paddock broke. Again over 175 yards we find that Paddock has turned in a better performance than any on record by "pros." A sprinter named Daly in New Zealand in 1907 on grass ran it in 17 1-5, while Paddock's best is 17 on cinders. Harry Hutchens is spoken of as having the best 300-yard mark with 30 seconds, but Donaldson has a better mark by a fifth of a second made in 1913. On the other hand Paddock's mark is 30 1-5. Hewitt was 30 1-4. The only other distance at which Paddock has run as fast as a professional is the 200-yards and here both times are nineteen seconds, the professional time being made on grass.

To give a full idea of the variance of times of professionals and Paddock from 50 yards to 300 yards the following table speaks for itself:

Dist.	Professional	Paddock
50	5 1-4 Hewitt, 1866	5 2-5
70	7 1-10 Walker, 1912	7 1-5
75	7 1-5 Postle, 1912	7 3-5
80	7 2-5 Postle, 1910	7 4-5
90	8-7-10 Walker, 1912	8 4-5
100	9 3-8 Donaldson, 10	9 3-5
110	10 Donaldson, 10	10 1-5
120	11 1-5 Donaldson, 09	11 3-5
125	11 4-5 Postle, 1906	12 1-5
130	12 Postle, 1906	12 2-5
150	14 Donaldson, 11	14 1-5
175	17 1-5 Day, 1907	17
200	19 Postle, 1912	19
220	21 1-10 Donaldson, 13	20 4 5
300	29 4 5 Donaldson, 13	30,1-5

While "Strangler" Ed Lewis, champion heavyweight wrestler of the world, and Donato Gardini, the Italian heavyweight wrestler, have been matched for a two hour tussle to a decision in San Francisco on July 27, there are few, and those only Italian enthusiasts, who give the foreigner even an outside chance to be returned the victor. Gardini has been makng wonderful strides on the mat in recent months, but he is still a long way from being the exponent of the art which will cope with a world champion. There are many who think the Italian will one day come into his own.

The fact that the English Davis Cup tennis team was obliged to default to the Spanish for the reason that even if they won the match they would not be able to make the trip to the United States to continue the play, has caused consternation in England to the extent that the fact is being made the subject of leading editorials in a number of newspapers. The American has been prone to be accused of being too serious in the manner in which he takes his sports, but if the way in which the defection of the present English tennis team has been taken is any criterion, it is safe to say that the Yankees are not the only ones to do so.

When Jess Willard, the former heavyweight champion boxer makes the statement that he requires at least four months in which to condition himself for a fight, any honest trainer of athletes will tell him that if four months are necessary, then he might as well make it four years and he will be no nearer the physical perfection required. In other words, any athlete who has retrograded physically to the point where it takes four months to recover the lost ground, practically is a hopeless case. There may be an exception to the rule, but Willard is not likely to be that exception.

This is the season for the annual tragic repetitions of drownings of persons who knew nothing about the handling of a boat or were unable to swim or both. No outdoor recreation claims more victims than the water and yet no concerted effort seems to be in the making to make it obligatory for all girls and boys to learn how to swim even if they do not get to know how to handle a boat. How many thousands of persons there are who gaily step into a canoe or a row boat without giving the slightest thought as to what they would do in the event of an upset, being unable to swim.

DID WE SHOW 'EM?
WE CERTAINLY DID!

Those who were fortunate enough to see the film shown in our sales rooms at 312 South Brand Boulevard last night, realize now that the DURANT is all that has been claimed for it and more too. Some of the tests made in this picture prove that the Durant is a car built for strength, sturdiness and with a power plant which is a marvel.

There is no better chassis built which will compare in price and durability.

It has the finer qualities which you will expect in cars at a much higher price.

Come in tonight at 7:30 o'clock and see the film shown and be convinced.

BIG INCREASE IN CALIFORNIA CAR SALES, SO FIGURES SHOW

Statistics Indicate 66,246 New Automobiles Purchased in Six Months; South Leader

That prosperity is rampant in California automotive circles is very quickly learned from a survey of the July issue, Motor Registration News, published in Oakland, which sets forth in an illuminative set of tables statistics showing that there were 41 per cent more motor cars sold in this state during the first six months of 1922 than were disposed of in the same period of 1921.

Since January 1 California citizens have bought 66,246 new automobiles, while from January 1, 1921, to July 1, 1921 they bought 46,725 motor cars, a figure in itself of some magnitude.

The forty-seven northern counties of the state have progressed in business even faster than they did in the initial quarter of the year. The Motor News statistics show that the north gained 21 per cent in the first three months and boosted this advance for the six months to 30 per cent.

The southern part of the state finished the half year with a gain of 51 per cent over a similar period in 1921. Southern California continues to buy more cars than the north. The figures are 36,486 new automobiles in the eleven southern counties and 29,760 in the forty-seven northern divisional sections.

Trucks to the number of 8174 were brought from January 1 to July 1 and this branch of the industry fared as well, judged from a percentage standpoint, as did the passenger car trade, a fact which is exemplified in a comparison of June, 1921, and June, 1922, which brings to light the information that in June of last year 1010 trucks were purchased here, contrasted to the sale of 1828 last month. The gain is approximately 80 per cent.

As has been true in former months of the present year the increased purchases have been pretty well scattered among all standard makes and some have shown gains exceeding 300 per cent. In the high priced field one well known car shows an increase for the state of well over 100 per cent.

An analysis indicating how each county has fared this year over its automotive business in 1921 unearths the fact that Los Angeles county maintains the greatest car sale increase as well as one of the largest county percentage gains. Los Angeles county bought 29,007 automobiles in the first half of 1922, an increase of 56 per cent over 1921.

San Francisco county purchased 7663 motor cars and its gain over last year amounts to 30 per cent. Alameda county is third in volume of purchases with a figure of 5009 and its percentage increase equals 36 per cent.

VIBRATION IS BIG ENEMY TO LIFE OF MOTOR CAR

Centrifugal Force Cause of Lots of Evils Engineers Trying to Overcome

By ALEXANDER JOHNSTON
Editor MoToR

One of the most important problems with which the automobile engineer has to deal in his eternal struggle to make the motor car better is vibration. The average car owner probably never thinks of vibration as one of the hostile forces which are always at work, undermining the stability and efficiency of his car. Vibration, if allowed to work its own sweet way, would shake any motor car to pieces in a day's running. It is because of this that engineers are constantly working out ways and means of lessening vibration and thus increasing the life of the car.

Several Conditions

Taking the automobile engine as peculiarly liable to various vibrational influences, we find the following conditions causing vibration:

1. Crankshaft distortion due to inherent unbalance.
2. Centrifugal forces acting on the crankpins.
3. Explosion pressures.
4. Forces of the reciprocating masses.
5. Torque variation.

It seems almost impossible that a piece of steel such as the crankshaft should bend, but it does. Due to forces acting on it as it revolves the crankshaft will bend much as a skipping rope bends when it is swung by two little girls. Furthermore, the crankpins, or parts to which the connecting rod bearings are attached, because of their own centrifugal force, tend to bend also. They try to pull away from the shaft, exactly as a pail of sand tries to pull out of your hand when you swing it around your head.

Problem of Engineer

The problem of the engineer is to find a means of lessening this tendency of the shaft and parts to pull away from center, thereby setting up vibration. Many engineers have employed balance weights to reduce this vibration. These weights are located along shaft, are designed to balance the crankpin, the adjacent cheek and the part of the connecting rod that has a rotary motion. It is claimed that a crankshaft properly balanced in this way has its bearing pressures lessened to such an extent that bearing wear is materially lowered.

Other engineers have found a way of reducing vibration by making the shaft of large diameter, with large bearings firmly supported, so that the stiffness

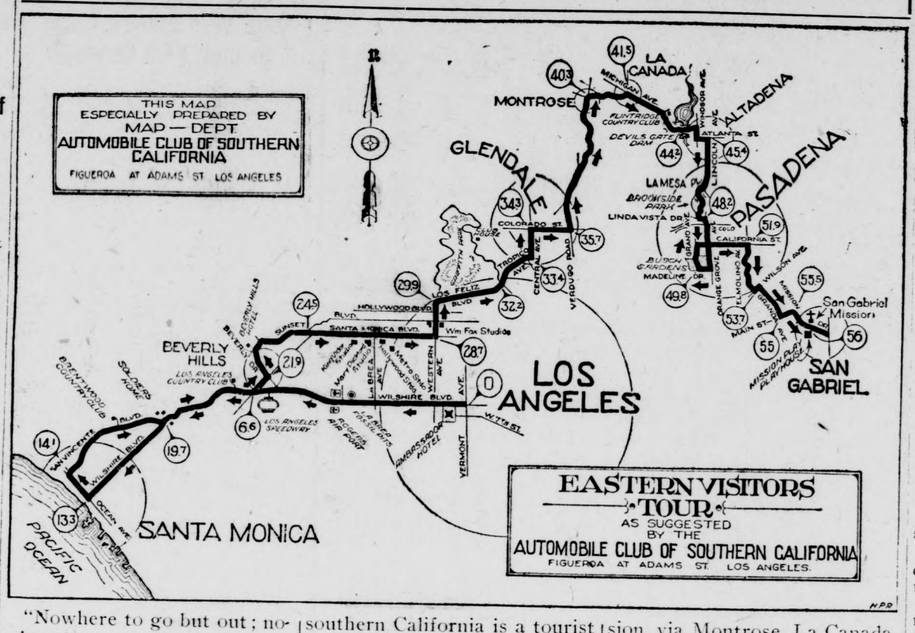
Howdy, Tourists! And Home Folks, Too! This Map Shows You Eastern Visitors' Tour; It's Easy to Take; It's Also Easy to Make; Hop in That Car and Try Route as It Is Outlined in This Picture



"Nowhere to go but out; nowhere to come but in!"

The Automobile Club of Southern California presents this tour guide for the benefit of tourists who have been in this country from one day to twenty years—or more.

M. B. Towman, manager of the local branch at 248 South Brand boulevard, of the auto club, says that everyone in southern California is a tourist and that everyone who is unable to heed the call of the open road is under a large handicap.

This map shows that it is about twenty miles from Brand boulevard and Colorado street to Ocean avenue, Santa Monica, and about twenty-two miles from the same starting point to the San Gabriel Mission, via Montrose, La Canada, Altadena and Pasadena.

The map shows the way to get to several of the most noted moving picture studios including those operated by William Fox, Metro, Mary Pickford and King Vidor.

It also shows the location of the La Brea fossil beds where many souvenirs of monsters of antiquity have been unearthed.

THIS STATE IS LEADING UNION IN MOTOR TRANSPORTATION

Summary Shows More Than 35,000 Trucks of Solid Tires Registered During 1921

California is the most advanced state in the union from the standpoint of motor freight transportation. More than 35,000 trucks equipped with solid tires were registered in this state last year. This is the type of trucks in general use as freighters but by this is not meant to infer that all of these trucks operate as carriers, in competition with the railroads.

There are approximately 850 motor lines in this state carrying freight, passengers, packages and express, of which number 250 are exclusive freight carriers. It has been computed that last year the stage lines carried approximately 10,000,000 passengers. There is no authentic record as to performance of exclusive freight carriers, but undoubtedly it was in the millions of tons.

What the motor truck means to the city of Los Angeles and its environs is set forth in the following summary:

Ninety per cent of the milk consumed is hauled by truck.

Five hundred thousand pounds of meat daily are transported by truck.

Ten million loaves of bread monthly reach consumers by truck.

Ninety-five per cent of the dry-goods that originate at Atlantic seaboard points are brought from Los Angeles harbor by truck.

Between the city and its harbor last year more than 100,000 tons of freight were moved and the percentage transported on trucks at less than rail rates was very high.

One hundred million brick were transported by truck last year.

Fifty million tons of iron and steel traveled by the same route.

Seventy-five per cent of the refined oils and ten per cent of the fuel oils are marketed by means of the motor truck.

Four hundred thousand tons of sand, 500,000 tons of plaster, and 250,000 tons of crushed rock used in building operations were truck hauled.

Five hundred thousand tons of cement traveled by the same method last year.

Two thousand five hundred tons of walnuts and ten million boxes of citrus fruits were hauled by truck.

Practically the entire fresh vegetable production was truck-transported.

Approximately fifty million gallons of gasoline reached consumers after traveling from the refinery to supply stations on trucks.

Almost the entire ice production, except part of that used in icing railroad cars, is truck hauled.

All wholesale grocery deliveries are made by truck.

Almost all fresh fruit is hauled by truck, either from the fields to the market or from the fields to the canneries.

The percentage of sugar beets, hay and grain that is truck hauled is not obtainable definitely but dealers say it is very high.

Bad Tires Cause of Many Accidents

Statistics gathered from varied and reliable sources indicate that a considerable number of serious accidents are occasioned by reason of defective and wornout tires. This is particularly true with regard to old casings on the front wheels when the vehicle is traveling at a considerable rate of speed.

Most motorists are not aware of the danger from blow-outs that follow the use of worn-out or unreliable tires, but it is an established fact that cars traveling at a speed of 40 miles or more place unusual strain on all four tires and if the front tires blowout at this speed a dangerous crash is inevitable. You can generally slow up in time to avoid a turn over if only the rear tires blowout, but if at high speed front tires blow out, it is decidedly dangerous.

Mexico led all other countries with the purchase of 6510 motorcycles in the United States last year, followed by Canada, with 5159, and Cuba, 1681.

Canada has 5522 automobile dealers.

Non-Resident Permit Requirement of Law

SACRAMENTO, July 22—Motor tourists from other states who visit California are warned by Charles J. Chenu, director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, to obtain non-resident permits from either the main office here or any of the branch offices of the department.

These certificates, says Chenu, are absolutely free and are good for ninety days. The law requires they must be obtained by outside motorists within twenty-four hours after arriving in California. Those who do not apply for the permit within that time must take out a regular state license.

Chenu declares it is to the advantage of the visiting motorists to avail themselves of the provisions of the non-resident section of the motor vehicle law. He said:

"The non-resident certificate not only carries with it the motoring privileges of California, but it is also a protection against theft. The non-resident registration gives the department a record on which the police can work in the event a tourist's car is stolen."

England has a registration of 373,200 motorcycles.

Interested in Roads in Strange Lands

How are the roads in foreign countries? Motorists who are planning to tour abroad in strange lands are showing keen interest in the information being issued by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Here is some more "dope" on highway and touring conditiions in foreign lands:

ITALY—Motoring visitors who remain in Italy more than three months must pay inland revenue taxes, which are very high. Then the visitor can stay three more months. Gasoline can be obtained in the north and in the larger towns of the central and southern districts, but it is not of good quality and is high in price. Roads are poor in the southern provinces, but are good and often excellent in the north and central sections. There are over 2000 miles of good roads. Best season is from December to March.

JAPAN — Motor cars can be brought in free of duty if they are declared as "personal luggage". Main roads between large cities are good, but narrow in spots. Frequent rains damage the roads and bridges. Shooting permits are issued from November 15 to April 1. The Island of Kyushu and the vicinity of Tokyo and Kyoto offer the best touring fields. Gasoline is obtainable in all larger towns.

PALESTINE — Cars are permitted to enter this country. The roads, however, are generally in a very bad state and unfit for motoring.

PORTUGAL — The majority of roads here are in very good condition. Motorists must drive on the left of the highways, and pass each other on the right.

SPAIN—Gasoline is easily obtainable, but many of the roads are bad. The speed on the roads is not limited except through towns. Bridges washed out by storms are often not replaced.

Club Gives Warning About Headlights

Glaring headlights which blind auto drivers are going to be taboo on highways of the southern and central parts of the state.

Too many accidents are being caused by blinding headlights, say officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Recognizing this fact, there are going to be several raids staged against auto owners who do not properly dim their lights.

Auto club officials today issue a warning to all motorists to get their lights correctly adjusted before the law starts to make it unpleasant for all those whose lights blind the traveling public.

The state regulations in regard to the headlight adjustment provide for "two lights in front of the vehicle, of such intensity that they will reveal any substantial object 200 feet ahead of the vehicle from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, or when it is dark enough to conceal objects 200 feet ahead of the vehicle."

Legal requirements in regard to the adjusting of the lights, points out the Auto club legal department, are such that they can only be met by the use of one of the approved dimming devices as passed by the state.

But all dimming devices must be properly adjusted, and the adjustment is so technical that it can usually be best understood by a professional engineer or by an authorized adjusting station.

Motorists are advised to have their headlights correctly adjusted at once or suffer the consequences at the hands of the law.

CAR THEFTS SHOW GREAT GAINS IN 28 BIG CITIES

During Last Year Total of 37,554 Autos Stolen, 26,517 Recovered

Automobile thefts seem to keep right along with automobile production, according to statistics of twenty-eight "index" cities for which complete four-year figures have been kept by the National Automobile Dealers' Association.

These twenty-eight cities show that 37,554 motor vehicles were stolen in 1921 and 26,517 recovered. The number unrecovered was 40 per cent of the total, the highest noted in the four years, indicating that the thieves not only are keeping abreast of the production, but forging ahead of the police departments and the legislative bodies in means devised to safeguard the owner.

Summary for 28 Cities

A summary of the four-year figures for the twenty-eight cities follows:

Stolen—1918, 27,445; 1919, 33,503; 1920, 30,046; 1921, 37,554.

Recovered—1918, 21,673; 1919 24,740; 1920, 21,273; 1921, 26,517.

Unrecovered — 1918, 21 per cent; 1919, 26 per cent; 1920, 29 per cent; 1921, 40 per cent.

New York again heads the list with total number stolen, 6808. Chicago is a close second with 6799. Chicago recoveries, 4438, however, were greatly in excess of the recoveries in New York, 3451. Twenty-one cities showed a greater number stolen in 1921 than in 1920. Cleveland, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Salt Lake, Columbus, O., York, Pa., and Richmond, Va., showed fewer thefts in 1921 than in 1920.

Police Handicapped

"The greatest handicap under which the police are laboring in the recovery of stolen vehicles," according to C. A. Vane, general manager of the association, "is lax enforcement of laws to punish motor vehicle thieves. Courts are unduly lenient with this class of offenders. Charges are continued against such law breakers until the patience of the witnesses is exhausted, finally resulting in dismissals and nolle prosequis."

A tendency was also noted during the 1921 depression for owners of insured vehicles to conspire for the disappearance of the vehicles in order to collect the insurance. Numerous cities over the country reported the recovery of motor cars from quarries, pits and rivers that had been reported stolen and which the police declare were clearly disposed of with the connivance of the owner.

Coast Condition Is Reported Remarkable

INDIANAPOLIS, July 22. — J. H. McDuffee, assistant general manager of the Cole Motor Car company, has just returned to Indianapolis after a trip of six weeks to the Pacific Coast. Conditions there he says are more than satisfactory so far as the automobile industry is concerned. The coast, according to Mr. McDuffee, has shown a remarkable recovery. There has been a perceptible gain in every month in the sale of motor cars and substantial indication that the public is buying higher grade cars than last year.

Some Good Advice to Motor Drivers

How's your memory? Here are some things to remember:

1. You are an engineer with a definite responsibility.
2. You control a highly concentrated piece of machinery.
3. A valuable cargo has temporarily been placed under your care.
4. In your hands is an investment of many thousands of dollars.
5. You are operating over a finely built highway—your highway—you have one share.
6. But—don't forget that the man in the car behind also has a share in it.
7. There may be ten cars behind you—ten shareholders. Is it to be friend or foe? You alone can decide.

Great Britain Leans to Closed Designs

DETROIT, July 22. — C. A. Glentworth, British representative of the Hudson Motor Car company, was a visitor at the Detroit plant this week. He reports that the closed car demand throughout the British Isles is following the American trend and showing a decided increase. England, particularly, is going in for closed models to a greater extent than ever before. Mr. Glentworth regards the improvement in automobile demand as the forerunner of better business conditions abroad. As yet he points out, the motor car is more of a luxury than it is to Americans and the improved trade indicates the beginning of a general condition.

Saturation Point Not Yet Reached

CLEVELAND, O., July 22—The fact that nearly 40 per cent of all sales of light Overland cars in May were made to new buyers, that is those who have owned no previous cars, would indicate that the saturation point in automobile buying is still far away. Overland retail deliveries in May were approximately 40 per cent greater than April.

During the fiscal years from 1918 to 1922 inclusive a total of 46,484 passenger automobiles, valued at $45,749,115, were brought into Canada, paying a duty of $15,960,121.

Monrovia, a small foreign country has only three automobiles.

VIBRATION IS BIG ENEMY TO LIFE OF MOTOR CAR

Centrifugal Force Cause of Lots of Evils Engineers Trying to Overcome

of the shaft itself makes it able to keep its shape.

Still another school of engineers holds that the best method of reducing crankshaft vibration is by means of vibration dampers, mounted on the crankshaft. This damper is practically a disc clutch, so designed that it pulls down the vibration of the shaft as soon as it begins.

Stored Up Energy

Another phase of the engine's internal operation that causes vibration is the action of the pistons. Every moving body has a certain amount of energy stored up in it, and said moving body always desires to keep moving in the direction in which it is going. When the piston of the automobile engine, for instance, reaches the top of its stroke, it desires with all its heart to keep right on going and fly out through the top of the cylinder. It is pulled back by the connecting rod. In a four-cylinder engine two pistons are at the top and two at the bottom at the same time. The two pistons at the top travel faster than those at the bottom, and their so-called inertia force, their desire to continue traveling in the same direction, is greater. This produces what is known as an unbalanced force, and this is what causes the excessive vibration that is often noticed in a four that has heavy pistons.

To meet this situation the makers endeavor to reduce the weight of their pistons, because the greater the weight the greater the inertia force. The tendency toward aluminum pistons is due to this condition and the engineers carry this idea further by lightening such parts as valve, rocker arms, push rods, etc.

So the eternal battle against vibration goes on and the man who is genuinely interested in motor cars will watch the engineers gradually winning over their old enemy. We shall, perhaps, never achieve the vibrationless motor car, but we shall approximate perfection.

June Production of Fords Sets Record

"How many Fords were sold in June?" is a question that has been frequently discussed by Ford fans during the past month. The enormous total of Fords purchased in May has arousned a great deal of interest in the production figures for June. A dispatch just received from the Ford factory by Jesse E. Smith company, authorized Ford and Lincoln dealers, states that June brought forth the highest production in the history of the Ford Motor company, with a total of 148,439 cars, trucks and tractors. Of this number, 6,054 were sold by the Ford company of Canada and 9,435 by the various European Ford companies and South American branches, thus reaching purchasers in practically every civilized country in the world.

Ford's total sales for the first six months of 1922 were well over the half-million mark, the exact figures being 652,261.

July Ford sales are expected to equal, and probably eclipse June. The estimated output of cars, trucks and tractors has been placed at 151,767, although dealers have requisitioned more than 200,000. Ford officials state that every attempt has been made to supply their dealers with sufficient cars to fill their orders, but that for the past three months, prompt deliveries have been impossible with some of the types. The demand for Ford enclosed cars has been especially strong, due to the ever-increasing popularity of the coupe and sedan for all-year-round use.

A reflection of general business conditions is seen in the record of Ford truck sales, which show an increase of 84 per cent over last year. Merchants and farmers alike have come to recognize the utility of the motor truck in cutting transportation costs and speeding up deliveries.

"As the total production of all makes of cars in June was in the neighborhood of 271,000, and Ford production was in excess of 140,000, it is apparent that the Ford Motor company continues to turn out more than half the automotive products sold in this country," says Mr. Smith. At the present time Ford is employing 75,000 men at Detroit.

CLEVER PROGRAM BEING OFFERED AT T. D. & L.

Strongly Dramatic Picture With Well Chosen Cast; Sennett Film Sunday

Admirers of Agnes Ayres as a player and W. Somerset Maugham as author found a pleasing feast waiting for them at the T. D. & L. theatre last night where "The Ordeal" is playing again today.

"Sawing a Lady in Half Exposed" adds to the attractiveness of the program. You will have to see it to learn the trick.

Tomorrow's Bill

Mack Sennett has evolved a new and popular pastime in "The Cross-roads of New York," his latest six-reel comedy-melodrama, which is being released through Associated First National Pictures, Inc., and will be shown at the T. D. & L. theatre beginning Sunday. It is the pastime of a quick getaway.

The plot revolves around the fortune of James Flint, Wall Street power and man of wealth. The financier has not only fallen hard for a Broadway vamp, but finds that he is also involved beyond his financial depth. In his philanthropic heart he offered to finance a musical show in which she was to star; but he had no idea of how fast that lady could spend money.

Hupmobile Popular With Women Drivers

Proving their assertion that the Hupmobile is "popular with the women", Lanier Bartlett and J. H. French of the Bartlett & French company, Glendale Hupmobile dealers, report the recent sales of cars to Miss Bernie Morehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue and Mrs. Viola E. Wood of 701 North Howard street. Both of these feminine motorists have been driving automobiles for several years and each is strong in her praise for the flexibility and easy running faculties of the "Hup"

Strangely enough, both women chose two passenger models. Miss Morehouse selecting a roadster and Mrs. Wood picking out one of the new roadster-coupe types.

Mr. Bartlett states that his firm is already reaping results from the extensive advertising campaign recently launched by the Greer-Robbins company of Los Angeles, Hupmobile distributors for California, Arizona and Nevada. "America's Economy Car", is the slogan being used all over the country, and, according to Mr. Bartlett, "it is causing a considerable amount of investigation by people, who were previous strangers to the ability of the 'Hup'."

Stephens Six Will Have Display Here

The Stephens Salient Six will make its advent in Glendale with the opening next week, of the Helms Motor Sales company, at 233-35 South Brand boulevard in the Wishart building, where they will occupy the entire ground floor with beautifully decorated sales rooms, where the higher qualities of the Stephens can be properly shown and complete service and repair shop, where all classes of repairing will be taken care of, more particularly, service on the Stephens.

The personnel of the company consists of T. R. Helms, from Chicago, where most automobiles are financed, and R. G. Swigert, from Michigan, where they are manufactured. The combination should work wonders in putting the Stephens over in a manner which is in keeping with the merits of the car.

Mr. Helms states that the "Stephens is the car which made a $1000 challenge a few weeks ago on a run to San Francisco, in which any car in its class, priced within a range of $600 of the Stephens, could compete. Winner to take the money. There being no takers, the Stephens made the run alone, making an average of better than 40 miles to the gallon of gasoline on the round trip, with three men in the car. The run was made under the auspices of the A. A. A."

When driving in a busy thoroughfare, a course should be followed approximately as closely as possible to a straight line.

C. J. Ruskauff Says Jewett Meets Tests

"In the Jewett there is strength," says C. J. Ruskauff of the Sunset Motor company at 308 East Colorado. "Coupled with the great power, is a chassis which characterizes the Jewett as a distinctive car. It is designed and built by Paige engineers, in the Paige shops—is the result of long experience in the construction of fine motor cars. All elements thoroughly tested and proven in years of use."

"The powerful, six-cylinder motor, is the evolution of many thousands of fine six-cylinder power plants. A closed body accentuates the vibration of an unbalanced, four-cylinder motor. The six is inherently balanced, and the Jewett Six is exceptionally smooth running."

"Words alone cannot describe the outstanding features—a demonstration is necessary to make one fully appreciate the finer qualities of the Jewett."

Motor Registration Establishes Record

SACRAMENTO, July 22—Motor vehicle records, including registration of automobiles and receipts for the first six months of 1922 exceeded those for the entire twelve months of 1921. This is according to a report made public by Charles J. Chenu, director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

During the six months beginning January 1 and ending June 30, 689,163 automobiles were registered in California as compared with registration of 645,522 for the entire year of 1921.

The motor vehicle fees for the six months totaled $7,219,160.41, as against $6,036,384.72 during all of 1921.

Germany Is Buying Many Automobiles

BERLIN, July 22.—Automobile manufacturers in Germany are from seven to eight months behind in deliveries, according to American automobile men in Berlin. In spite of the financial depression in that country, the public is buying automobiles at an unusual rate. This condition is explained in financial circles where it is claimed that a large number of Germans would rather have automobiles or diamonds in their possession than the paper money that is being printed by the bale to offset the poor rate of foreign exchange. The greatest problem that confronts the German manufacturer is that of producing a car which will take the place of the lower-priced American, British and French cars.

E. L. Smith Joins Nash Organization

"Increasing business of The Nash Motors company has made necessary the enlargement of our factory sales organization, and to still further strengthen our sales department enabling us to further augment sales, we have appointed two assistant sales managers, E. L. Smith and C. H. Bliss," said C. B. Voorhis, vice-president and director of sales of The Nash Motors company. "The appointment of Mr. Smith has just been announced, Mr. Bliss having been advanced to that position several weeks ago.

"Mr. Smith comes into the Nash organization with a wealth of business experience and a fine sales record. In him we have a man thoroughly qualified for his work with us. Mr. Bliss has been with The Nash Motors company ever since its organization and he well merits his recent promotion."

Mr. Smith began his business career in California where for a number of years he was in the manufacturing business for himself. Later, selling out his business, he became identified with the sales staff of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, traveling the northwest out of Portland, Ore.

In 1919 Mr. Smith resigned to take over wholesale sales work for one of the large automobile companies, handling dealers in the Portland territory. In September, 1921, Mr. Smith was made district manager for that company with headquarters at St. Louis, from which position he has just resigned to join the Nash factory organization.

Heavy Demand Here for Tires, Is Report

"When motorists come all the way from Rochester, New York, to purchase tires in Glendale, it goes to show that this city is rapidly coming to the fore as an automobile trading center," remarked C. H. Montgomery, manager of the local branch of the Automobile Tire company of California, yesterday after he had sold two sets of tires to a party of tourists from that city.

Although Mr. Montgomery is not so rash as to claim that the motorists traveled 3000 miles for the sole purpose of buying tires from his firm, he does state that his out-of-town trade is growing beyond all hopes and expectations.

"Every week brings us several new customers from such communities as Eagle Rock, Burbank, Lankershim and Van Nuys," he continued. "The increased volume of business during the past few weeks having caused us to increase our 'allotment' from Los Angeles headquarters by more than double."

Night Signal for Motorists Offered

Opportunity knocks at the doors of quick thinking persons daily. Knowing the hand signals of tourists cannot be clearly seen at night, Mrs. M. C. Thomas, of Los Angeles, has contrived a little flashlight which she attaches to the back of her glove on her left hand. By means of a thumb spring she operates the light when she signals.

"The most flexible car I've ever driven. And I've driven 'em all, too."

"What I like about the car is the way she slips along the road at 35 and 40 miles an hour. A perfect automobile for touring. Could drive it all day long without the least bit of fatigue.'

"I certainly like to drive her in traffic. A feather brake control, a beautiful clutch, and a get-away in high that is positively wicked."

"Wow! Feel that thing pull!"

"Smooth? Velvet can't touch it."

"I don't wonder that people are talking so much about the Rickenbacker."

"What's the idea of putting a low or intermediate in that car? She certainly don't need 'em."

"One mile an hour! Never saw a car pull down so low in high gear."

Volume Savings Permit Greater Value

There are hundreds of parts in a motor car. Many companies buy all, some makers build a few, of the parts that go to make up a complete motor car. For every part they buy, a partsmaker's profit must be included in the final price

Studebaker builds every vital part. Motors, bodies, axles, transmissions, frames, tops and other parts are designed and manufactured completely from raw material to finished product in Studebaker plants, under Studebaker control and inspection.

The savings, because of tremendous volume, give the buyer extraordinary value.

Complete manufacture also explains the uniform high quality that you get in a Studebaker car, whether it is a Light-Six, a Special-Six or a Big-Six.

And uniform high quality has made Studebaker cars known everywhere for their dependable performance in owners' use.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

Huh? What's This? Coffee King Booth Goes 217,000 Miles, More or Less, in His Ford, Gets 71,000 Miles on Last Set of Tires, He Says, and Then by Heck, He Buys Another Ford

These four are hard to beat. The two attractive men in the white suits are Jesse Smith, local Ford dealer, and Frank Booth, the coffee king. Smith is the chap with his hands together—probably he's holding tight the check Booth has just given him for the Ford to the left. The Ford to the right, owned by the coffee king, traveled—but read the story!

Three Carloads of Chevrolets Received

C. L. "Chevrolet" Smith, local dealer of "the world's lowest priced fully equipped automobile", announces that three carloads of Chevrolets were received here during the past week and that it is still possible to obtain immediate deliveries.

Local sales have increased to such an extent during the past few weeks that Mr. Smith has been forced to add three salesmen to his force, the total of which is now eight.

Among the recent purchasers of Chevrolets from the Glendale agency are the Board of Education of Glendale district and Los Angeles county, respectively. David Black of Kenneth road, business manager of the school board, is to receive the former for his use in "covering" the territory which several years ago he traveled in a horse drawn buggy.

The second machine is also to be turned over to a Glendale man, George Mitchell, chief of right-of-way fo rthe county, the machine to be the only one used by the county outside of the engineering department.

Miller Holman, former well known resident of Glendale and graduate of the local high school, has joined the Chevrolet sales force and is prepared to "talk business" to any of his former friends and also any new ones.

Because of their reliability and simplicity, four-cylinder motors are used in racing cars more frequently than engines with a greater number of cylinders.

Well, folks, here's your old friend, the Coffee King, Frank Booth, who now is in the real estate business, accepting delivery on a new Ford sedan from Jesse E. Smith, authorized dealer in Glendale, with headquarters at Colorado boulevard and Orange street.

The Coffee King bought the delivery ford shown in the picture way back in 1915 and it has motor No. 907,043. His new car, which speaks for itself, has motor number 6,142,892. Some difference, eh?

And there is a reason behind this purchase, according to Mr. Booth. He says he has used only four sets of tires on his Ford, that it has gone 217,000 miles in the eight years (accroding to the best of his recollection) and that he obtained 71,000 miles on the last set of tires.

Now one wonders whether this is an ad for the Ford, or the tires, or both but Booth says so, so we must believe him. The valves have been ground only once and the car was towed into the shop only once when a rear axle was broken.

These interesting facts were told to Mr. Smith and F. H. Lowe, the salesmen who closed the deal, voluntarily on the part of Mr. Booth, but he did not tell of the tedious care he has given the car. When it rained, he ran the machine to cover. He never let it stay out in the sun too long. He never went too speedily and he has driven it about Glendale's good streets. All of which paid him well in economical service.

Rickenbacker Wins Approval of Public

"It is delightfully encouraging to note both the exceedingly rapid growth of Rickenbacker sales sales throughout Southern California," says Lyman Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado, Rickenbacker dealers, "and the the wave of enthusiastic approval that is sweeping along with it. The car seems to possess to an unusual degree those very features that appeal to all classes. Its beauty appeals to the fastidious. Its performance at once attracts the driving motorist, for he is not in the habit of sliding along the road so smoothly at all speeds; he feels something entirely new in an automobile sensation. But to the mechanic, it is easiest of all to sell a Rickenbacker, because of the very way it is built, having incorporated in its construction so many of the lessons taught us by the war. He, too, finds something new and exceedingly practical."

To satisfy the demand of the many who are interested in the mechanical features of the Rickenbacker, the Glendale Motor Car company has succeeded in securing a Rickenbacker chassis, which will be on display in their show room at 124 West Colorado street for one week beginning Monday, July 24.

"It is unfortunate that we cannot keep the chassis here longer than one week," said Mr. Clark, "because we know from the large number of people who have expressed their desire to see the chassis that one week will not begin to take care of the demand. However, we plan to remain open evenings and Sunday mornings and it is hoped that most of those interested in the chassis, will be able to drop in and look it over. We also hope that those who are interested from other than the buying standpoint will accept our open-house invitation and give us the pleasure of a call. We particularly want the mechanics, salesmen, and all others interested in the automobile business in Glendale to drop in and get better acquainted both with the men of our organization and with our car.

The Rickenbacker chassis is to be towed over from Hollywood Monday morning. The car has been on display there at the Rickenbacker agency on Western avenue this week and has been attracting enthusiastic crowds. It is expected that the Glendale Motor Car company's show room will prove even more popular during the coming week.

Eight per cent of the 10,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States are owned in Pennsylvania.

W. R. Patton Buys His Third Buick Car

Making his third successive Buick since coming to California several years ago, W. R. Patton, who recently completed the erection of his beautiful new home at 1541 West Tenth street, this week purchased a new touring mdoel from Tanner and Hall, Ltd., local agents for the popular automomile. The car was especially fitted up for Mr. Patton, the principal feature being one of the latest California tops. Mr. Patton's statement:

"I wouldn't drive anything else but a Buick."

That is sufficient proof that he has gotten service out of his previous purchases, say Tanner and Hall.

Ray Galvin, sales manager, has announced that the demand for all models of four-cylinder cars has become so great all over the country that Glendale residents who are looking forward to the purchasing of a Buick "four" should place their orders immediately. He states that the next carload is expected to arrive here within sixty days.

Guy Faulkner Gets First 1922 Speedster

Guy Faulkner of Van Nuys was the lucky man to get the first 1922 Studebaker speedster from the local Studebaker headquarters, according to Gus H. Pulliam of the Packer Auto company.

Mr. Faulkner received his special model during the past week, it being the first ever to be delivered from the local distributors.

With its sporty looking four passenger body, shiny patent leather top, six disc wheels and tires and additional features it presents one of the most attractive creations of the season.

Of the past week's deliveries the sale of a big six touring to Harrison Ball of the Gray hotel was considered by the firm as being the biggest triumph for the Studebaker. Mr. Ball, who had never owned a Studebaker, spent several weeks "shopping", finally narrowing his choice down to the Studebaker and a larger machine costing practically twice as much before placing his order with the Packer Auto company.

Strike conditions have brought their first results to Glendale, it is believed, in the delay "somewhere in Nevada" of a carload of light sixes destined for this city.

The shipment, which was due to arrive here early this week, is not expected to show up until Wednesday of next week, according to Mr. Pulliam, who continued:

"Even that won't permit us to fill all of our orders."

According to data compiled from the 1921 assessors' farm census listings, Missouri farmers have 83,564 automobiles, or one to every three farms.

Police officials in Philadelphia, Pa., declare that 99 of every 100 thefts of automobiles are due to owners' negligence or carelessness.

Ray Galvin Puts 'Honeymoon Hint' to Club Members

"Take Me On a Buick Honeymoon" was the sentimental request yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, of the members of the Glendale Kiwanis Club.

There was a reason!

The silent boost of the occasion was a piece of sheet music with this title placed at each plate by Ray Galvin, whose headquarters are at 237 South Brand boulevard with Tanner & Hall, Ltd.

The colorful poster cover showed a couple in a blue Buick roadster with disc wheels about to ascend a mountain trail over the top of which is peering the spires of the castle of their dreams. Meanwhile, a bright yellow crescent moon, which happens to be turned the wrong way, is a fixture in the Mediterranean blue sky trimmed with yellow clouds.

The music was written by Art Hickman and the "humor" by Ben Black—both of whom admit the offence.

FASCINATING TALE OF TREASURE IS PICTURIZED

'The Golden Gift' Featuring Alice Lake, Attraction at Glendale Today

A fascinating story of treasure is that unfolded in "The Golden Gift," Alice Lake's latest starring picture for Metro, which will be shown today at the Glendale Theatre. But the treasure is not that usually associated in the public mind with golden gifts; it is a treasure far more precious, about which is woven a stirring story of love and adventure.

The Foch Four described as "Belgium's Foremost Original Dancers" will be the headline feature offering on the vaudeville bill today. These international artists are unquestionably the greatest in their field and they have achieved a remarkable success.

Other Good Acts on Bill

Rube Tripp is billed simply as a character monologist. He has a most amusing line of chatter. Ardell and Tracy entitle their contribution "Syncopation of Patches."

Sykes and Sykes have "A Laugh, a Song and a Thrill" with which to beguile Glendale audiences. Their offering is distinctly original and extremely entertaining. George Murphy promises to present "Juggling While Telling Stories."

"Tillie" Tomorrow

Mary Miles Minter will be seen here Sunday and Monday at the Glendale Theatre in "Tillie," an adaptation of Helen R. Cartin's famous novel of the Pennsylvania Dutch, "Tillie, A Mennonite Maid." Alan Forrest will be seen as her leading man.

News Topics and a comedy complete the bill. which surely should attract large audiences.

Results of Various Tests Over Starting

Waiting for the signal, "Go", from the traffic officer at any busy street intersection in any downtown district, in any city, a number of automobiles, with motors purring impatiently, are found. When first given the signal they all start forward at once. Then one or two of the group pull ahead, while the others string along behind.

That is acceleration—something the manufacturers have striven for years to attain. While in most cases the lack of acceleration denotes a faulty adjustment of the carburetor, it may also denote a lack of power and speed.

Regarding this paragraph on "acceleration", E. P. Sutton of the local Nash sales, states that, in a number of tests held in Los Angeles and other cities recently, his car has always been among the leaders, often in first place. Mr. Sutton refers particularly to a recent test made through the Troy Motor Sales company of Los Angeles, in which a strictly Nash stock car was used to conduct a series of tests in acceleration. Arthur B. Marshall, who with C. H. Bigelow, recently made a record run in a Nash from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City, was at the wheel of the car. Following are the results of the various tests:

From standing start to thirty miles per hour—6 3-5 seconds.
From standing start to forty miles per hour—12 3-5 seconds.
From standing start to fifty miles per hour—19 3-5 seconds.
From 5 miles per hour to thirty miles per hour—5 1-5 seconds.
From 5 miles per hour to fifty miles per hour—19 seconds.
From 10 miles per hour to thirty-five miles per hour—8 3-5 seconds.

William H. Hooper Company Sets Mark

C. H. Messenger, manager of the "accessory and parts" department of the William H. Hooper company, corner of Broadway and Louise street, claims that his department has accomplished a feat which has never been duplicated by a business firm in the city—that of doubling the volume of business every fortnight during the first two months of operation.

He made this amazing announcement yesterday to an Evening News reporter along with the statement that "our parts department is being patronized to such an extent that we are sometimes unable to keep a complete stock on hand."

Handling a full line of Ford parts and accessories, in addition to a well stocked supply of accessories to "real automobiles," this branch of the William H. Hooper company is rapidly becoming one of the best paying departments in the firm.

Favorable reports were also turned in from the following heads of departments: A. L. Knox, batteries; Willis Howe, gas and oils; C. C. Chase, Miller and Kelly-Springfield tires and vulcanizing; F. R. Pierce, greasing and oiling. The last named department, which was opened on July 1, is also showing rapid advances, it is announced.

Australia, which is approximately the size of the United States, has one automobile to every sixty-seven of its inhabitants.

An automobile "clearing house" has been established in New York City, where new cars of old design are sold to the public at manufacturing costs.

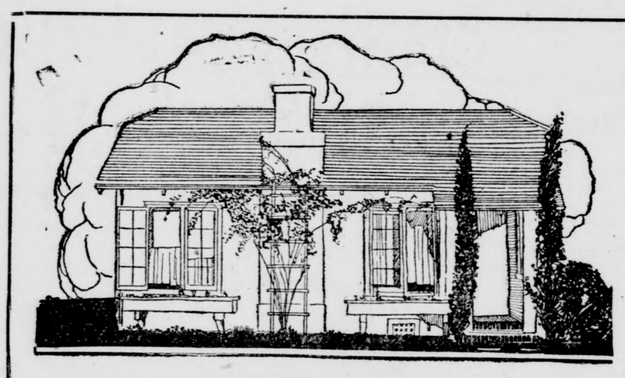
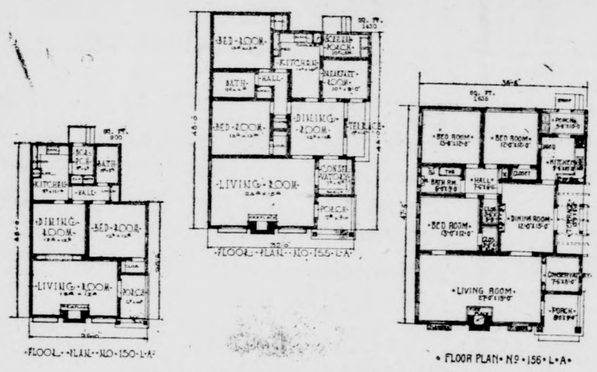
Buy or Build a HOME





PLANS NO. 150-155-156

Here are three wonderfully well arranged floor plans created to fit an exterior that you will agree is most attractive.

The center exposed chimney is a special detail that adds dignity and the array of carefully grouped windows permit of maximum sunlight and ventilation.

It costs no more to build distinctive homes than it does the ordinary kind and a home architecturally planned increases in value rather than deteriorates—that's why you should avail yourselves of the plan service featured on these weekly pages. They represent the latest and most practical home plans available, and the Home Building Editor will gladly give you detailed information concerning them.

It is a sad picture our artist puts before us today. Father, past middle age, has lost his job. His health has failed, his money has all been spent. He cannot make the "appearance" necessary to impress men when he applies for a chance. And ill health and adversity have sapped his enthusiasm and self-confidence. He is practically "down and out."

Mother looks the picture of despair: She sees nothing ahead that promises comfort; her clothes, like those of little daughter, are patched and worn. She leans on her elbow in an attitude which would move even the stony-heated to pity. "Sweet are the uses of adversity," wrote Shakespeare, but mother entirely disagrees with the man who always had enough for his needs— SHE hasn't.

Daughter has her rag doll, and under other circumstances would be perfectly happy with it. But she is hungry—oh, so hungry! Under-nourishment cries aloud from every movement of her little body, every glance from her lusterless eyes, and her very presence makes the dejection of the parents the more overpowring.

The little two-room hut in which they are is rented. The plastering has gone in huge chunks from the walls. There is neither shade nor curtain at the window. The table is bare—there is nothing in the cupboard to eat, and the chimney of the old-fashioned, cheap tin lamp is smoky, the oil is almost exhausted.

In their mind's eye they vision the home which could have been theirs—if they had only been thrifty when fortune smiled upon them. They can see in imagination little daughter, with the younger son whose life went out because it was too frail to stand adversity. The children, neatly dressed, are leaving the beautiful place they call home, on their way to school, or to church, or to the picture show, or to visit a friend.

The home itself which they envision has a broad portico, many windows, neat bedrooms, and a living room with an old-fashioned wide fireplace—just like the old home had been when they two were children, long before adversity had placed its chilling hand on their brows.

Oh, if they had only obeyed the impulse that time, years ago, when they started out as bride and bridegroom, to buy or build a home. But they didn't, and now not only they, but their innocent child must suffer.

You can guard against adversity. It is not too late for you to put this effective insurance on your future. Even though you haven't much ready money, if you have steady employment it is a comparatively easy matter to buy your own home—NOW. Ten or twenty years from now it may be an impossibility, as with the man in the picture.

Your love for wife and family is strong; your enthusiasm for your business is great—NOW. Capitalize these wonderful characteristics which you now possess by either building or buying a home.

The following enterprising firms and public-spirited individuals unite in urging this course upon you—for your own good, and to insure you against adversity. They have retained competent home designing experts to advise you and assist in making plans for your guidance. Don't hesitate, but today mail an inquiry to "Home Building Editor," care this paper. You will never regret it.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

A FOOLISH INVITATION

Why do people invite other people to impose upon them and then complain because the invitation is accepted? Whose fault is it that the invitation was extended in the first place?

Of course the person who received it might have had the strength of character to refuse, and to say: "I will deal fairly even when you lay yourself open to unfair treatment," but it takes a whale of character to do that.

Too Low a Price

I know a woman who rented a room to a girl who had an excellent position in a shop and could afford to pay well for it. But instead of asking her what she should have asked the landlady put the price at $11 for a large room, board, (including a lunch to carry), washing, and the use of the telephone. Other women were getting $15 for the same kind of accommodations without washing.

Naturally the girl snapped up the opportunity. Moreover, being of the disposition that is always ready to accept any invitation to impose, she let her washings get larger and larger, was so unfair in her use of the telephone that she constantly inconvenienced the other members of the family by her long conversations, and so untidy in her room that her landlady was forced to do valet's service as well as a chambermaid's.

The Volcano Erupts

You would have thought that when the landlady found out that she was being taken advantage of she would have told the girl that she would have to pay more for so many privileges. But no, the people who extend these foolish invitations don't solve their problems as simply as that. What they usually do is this. They groan and complain, not to the person but to others about him or her. To the person's face they are either frankly unamiable without explanation or they still maintain a strained amiability. In the meantime their resentment is piling up until finally there is a volcanic outburst and the diplomatic relations are abruptly severed.

What that woman will probably do is to stand it as long as she can and then turn out her boarder altogether, instead of following the fairer, kinder method of telling her that she is paying too little for what she gets and that she must pay more or get less.

Then Get Sore

Likewise I know a man who was absolutely incapable of holding an executive position in business because he always gave the people whom he hired too many privileges and then got sore and fired them when they thought him an easy mark and took advantage of him. They welcomed the privileges of course as we all do, but most of them would have preferred fewer privileges at first and a steady job at the end.

Don't invite people to impose on you if you don't want them to accept the invitation.

And if you receive an invitation from anyone to impose on him or her, it's wiser from a selfish as well as an ethical point of view not to accept it. It always pays in the end to pay for what you get.

SWEET PERFECTION

"I have a perfect wife," said Lee;
"Her cooking's not a crime,
And when she makes a date with me
"EH, BIEN!"

"Who's that terribly dressed woman?"

"Oh, she's the editor of that fashion monthly, 'Tres Chic.'"

She's always there on time."

HEARTFELT COMEBACK

"I noticed on Sunday," said the preacher, "that you slept through the greater part of my sermon."

"The greater part? Good heavens, was it as long as that?"

NO FIRE DRINKER

"Who's that man there blowing and fussing over his hot soup?"

Oh—he's famous in vaudeville. That's Flamingo, the fire eater."

INDEED, IT DOES!

"Synthetic leather and rubber are made from yeast, glycerine, tar and water." News item. Sounds more like a home brew recipe.

NO! NO! NO!

A device is being perfected to prevent the rolling of ships at sea. No device is desired to prevent the rolling of passengers.

MAKES RECORD AT AGE 4 YEARS

Betty Gulick, who has been telling good night stories to kiddies since she was 4, is said to be the smallest and youngest little person ever to have her stories recorded for the whirling disk. Little Betty is only 10 years old. Her stories are known to thousands of children throughout the country. W. S. Darby, recording engineer, diecting.

EXERCISES TO REDUCE

It is almost hopeless to tell the stout woman to exercise in order to reduce. She hasn't the exercising temperament, if she had she probably wouldn't be stout, besides as she has indulged her own comfort to a great extent while she has been putting on flesh. Her will power or her power to sacrifice comfort are probably too much weakened for her to stick at any strenuous regimne.

However, some women so value their youthful good looks that they will make these trifling sacrifices. Eventually, of course, they like the strenuous exercising, it's only the beginning of it that is hard. They like the feeling of being fit and vigorous.

But it takes an enormous amount of exercise to reduce flesh, while the more strenuous the exercise the larger the appetite it produces. A woman who is reducing can eat more if she exercises a great deal than if she lives a sedentary life, but she will never be able to eat enough to satisfy her appetite and she must make up her mind to that.

The easiest and pleasantest way to reduce is to join a gymnasium. If there are no gymnasiums several stout women should join together and start one. It's perfectly simple because the only thing needed is a large empty room and several sets of Indian clubs or dumb-bells. Broomsticks are an inexpensive substitute for gymnasium wands. The best part of a club or gymnasium of this sort is the element of competition it introduces. Taking exercises all by oneself in an empty attic room is dreary work and easy to avoid, but taking exercises with other people keeps one up to the mark, makes one afraid to cut classes and anxious to excel.

L. M.:—It is possible if you have a small amount of salicylic acid added to your powder, it will help this excessive perspiration of your feet. Your druggist will arrange the proportions for you, so it will act as a mild astringent. Scrub the feet every night using a soap in which there is salicylic and finish the bath by cooling the water until it is very cold. Rub dry with a coarse towel or add a hand massage until a perfect circulation is assured. The latter will restore the skin to normal action, alleviating this drain upon the sweat glands.

Maybelle:—You can brighten the tints in your hair by a henna shampoo, which should only remain on the head from five to 15 minutes, when it is used this way, as longer than that will affect the natural shade.

M. K. P.:—It is best for you to consult your doctor about these pimples. After these eruptions continue for years, as yours, they sometimes repeat because the skin becomes infected from the pimples. even though the digestive troubles that formerly caused them have been corrected. Such cases are easily healed.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

A DISGRACE TO BE FAT

Today is the third day of your shrink - your -stomach-liquid-diet-calorie period, if you are a member of our W. Y. W. class. You have had a liquid diet totaling not more than 500 or 600 calories a day, and by this time your stomach should be considerably shrunken or contracted.

When I say stomach, I mean the part of your alimentary canal which receives the food and is situated in the abdominal cavity, and not that external protuberance in the midsection sometimes referred to facetiously as bay window, corporation, aldermanic front, etc. I explain this for I have found often that when I talk about the stomach many of my hearers think I mean the latter protuberance. Prominent or not prominent, that is the abdomen and not the stomach.

Is it a disgrace to be fat? Not now, for we have not had much popular instruction along the lines of dietetics. But it will be a disgrace before long. Up to recently we have been dissatisfied, discomforted, yes, even disgusted with ourselves when we were fat, but we have not felt that we have been disgraced.

Self-preservation is the first law of life. We eat in response to this law and there is no disgrace attached to the act. It is done openly and frequently to the accompaniment of music, real and so-called.

But it is a disgrace to overeat. Too many are starving and we have no right to undermine our health and working capacity by so doing.

Secretary of Labor Davis gave out some striking figures recently. His statistics show that the average American eats more than a ton and a half of food a year. Now that statement does not mean much taken by itself, but coupled with the fact that it is one-half more food than was consumed by the A. E. F., it means a lot! One-half ton of food more than was necessary to keep strong, virile young men in fighting fitness! It means a whole lot.

It means that the average American eats a lot too much.

But how are you to tell if you eat too much, you have had so little knowledge of food values?

There is one safe little rule that you can go by. Are you overweight? You eat too much.

"But doctor, doctor dear! I eat very little! I don't eat breakfast, I don't eat potatoes—"

You eat too much, no matter how little it is, if you store it away as fat.

"But I don't eat potatoes. I tell you. I don't eat—"

Pardon old dear! It is not what you don't eat that makes you fat.

If I were to believe what I hear, I should judge that all overweights were so afflicted because they do not eat potatoes. The poor maligned potato! I am going to its rescue myself. Remember the phrase, It is not what you don't eat that makes you fat. It is what you do eat. Absolutely.

It may be that there are some fat people who are light eaters. I never have met 'em.

You have been on a liquid diet now for three days.

Are you ready for something with a little gustatory kick in it? Good. Tomorrow you may have 800 C. That is 200 or 300 more than you have had for the past three days. Take it as follows:

Eight Hundred Calorie Menu

Breakfast:
One 10 oz. glass of skim or buttermilk, (or fruit juice, small glass, or coffee)....100 C
Lunch:
One slice whole wheat toast, 1-2 inch thick .....100 C
Two poached or soft boiled eggs .....150 C
1-2 level tablespoon butter (for toast and egg)..... 50 C
One 10-oz. glass skim milk, or 5 oz. whole milk.....100 C
Tea time, same as breakfast .....100 C
Evening meal, same as breakfast .....100 C
Before retiring, same as breakfast .....100 C

Chew as you've never chewed before. Making this still a liquid diet. Now be good over Sunday, and you shall hear from me again on Monday.

Monday—The Small Appetite Myth

(Copyright 1922 George Matthew Adams)

They Say That

RESISTANCE TO DEATH

Herbert McCarty is dead after undergoing 48 operations. McCarty, war veteran of the 79th division, was riddled by a German machine gun a few days before the armistice. In the course of McCarty's 48 operations, the surgeons removed 14 of his ribs, a collar bone and part of one shoulder blade. The machine gun bullets made a terrific wreck of his body. Despite this, he had recovered, prior to his death, sufficiently to leave the hospital for short periods. That he lived on for nearly four years, with such terrible physical shock, is a revelation in the human body's powers to resist death. In McCarty's fate there is a great lesson for those constantly imagining they are ill, magnifying each flutter of the heart into fear that its beating is about to cease.

BEAUTIES OF NATURE

Some men go to the beach to enjoy the beauties of the sea, and others go to enjoy the beauties in the sea.

HOUSEHOLD SHORT-CUTS

Salt in whitewash makes it stick.

The best bait for a rat trap is an oyster.

Lamb fat makes excellent shortening for ginger snaps.

Rice and cheese make a delicious filling for stuffed tomatoes.

Put a pinch of salt and a little vanilla in the peanut brittle.

Bake the cinnamon rolls in muffin tins so they will be of uniform size.

Cover the boiled onions with cream sauce and cracker crumbs and bake in the oven.

IN LIEU OF SPOONS

Use a fork instead of a spoon when blending cornstarch, flour or cocoa with water. They will mix much more readily.

TAKE A TIP

Never boast of your faults. Even the most honest fruiterer never displays the bruised side of his apples.

Madelyn Rinehart Gives Dancing Party

Mrs. Fairy Madelyn Rinehart of 422 East Harvard street entertained a small group of friends at her home last evening with a dancing party. The affair was in honor of her daughter, Miss Twila, whose birthday it was. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bergin and son, Paul, of 416 West Colorado boulevard, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bolton and daughter, Velma. Mr. Bolton is a recent arrival in Glendale, having come here from Pittsburgh, where he has been an instructor in a technical college, while Mrs. Bolton and daughter have been here for some time looking for a suitable home to purchase. A lot of boosting for Glendale and a pleasant time was enjoyed, and all voted Mrs. Rinehart a charming hostess and entertainer.

Girl Aged 10 Saves Her Drowning Sister

SAN FRANCISCO—Cool-headed and prompt action on the part of 10-year-old Gladys Scaer of Oakland today saved the life of her younger sister, Lillie, aged 8. Gladys and Lillie, all alone, had visited Lake Merritt and were preparing to wade. Lillie had started into the water when she suddenly sunk from sight.

Gladys could not swim, but hastened into the water, feeling the depth with a stick. Lillie's head bobbed above the surface of the water the second time before she caught hold of her hair and dragged her to safety. Then she waded back for her sister's shoes and stockings, adrift on the lake.

TRY A NEWS WANT AD

Honest Advertiser In Hunt for Wife

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—Cupid is not the kind of a guy that he is cracked up to be.

Failing through the ordinary method, J. S. Williams, a farmer, living near Poplar Bluff, has advertised for a wife. He told that he was thirty-eight and that any girl twenty years old, or younger, would be eligible as an applicant.

"I am a hard-working fellow and guarantee any girl to be a good husband. I feel that wives are staple articles, and every man should have one. A wife is one of the necessities of a home," he said.

Then Williams, after considerable thought, continued: "I have but one eye, one being put out while I was young. Of course, that hampers my facial appearance somewhat, but I want to be square and tell girls, so that they may not answer if they don't want a one-eyed man."

If Williams succeeds in getting his spouse through the medium of the newspaper want ads he will have lost all faith in Cupid.

Vast Amount of Gold Is Seized in Russia

MOSCOW.—Reports from fifty states and separate governments in the Russian federated republics indicate that the amount of church treasure taken by the government for the famine amounts to a vast sum. Figures published in the Isvestia give 744 pound weight of gold, 628,635 pounds weight of silver, 33,700 diamonds and emeralds, 120 pounds of pearls, 43,711 gold pieces and 733 trinkets of diamonds and pearls weighing 980 pounds.

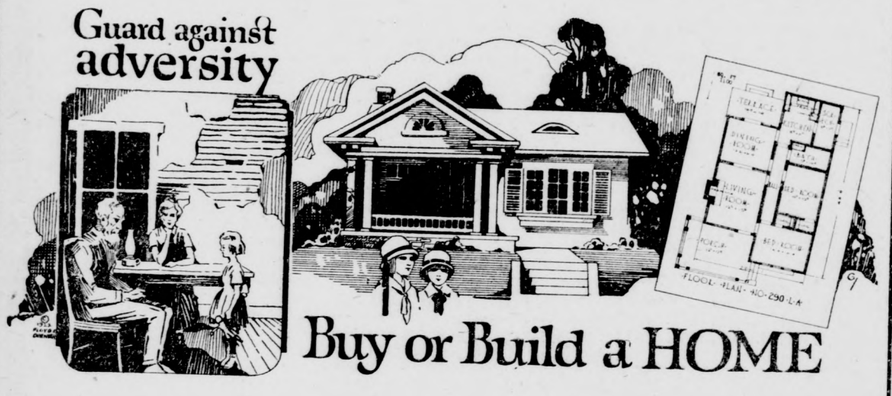
Rare Violins Offered for Tulare's Exhibit

TULARE—Six ancient and priceless violins, two of them said to have been constructed between 1690 and 1730 at Cremona, Italy, by Antonio Stradivarius, most celebrated master of violin construction, have been offered for display at the Tulare County Fair by Isaac Vogel, prominent pioneer resident of Tulare. Vogel asks only that the heirlooms be safeguarded. When placed on the market, a Stradivarius sometimes runs into six figures. The other violins are rare models, which are not found in markets of the present day.

Young Girl Cultivates 40 Acres of Ground

PITTSFIELD, Ill.—Edith Stout, a fourteen-year old girl here, has broken forty acres of ground, using a walking plow and a team of mules. She worked the ground, preparing it for corn, and is now working it for the fourth time. Edith's field is one of the best-looking in Pike county.

Guard against adversity



Buy or Build a HOME

When middle-age is past and when illness and misfortune come, it is too late to insure your future. But now, when you are strong and have a good position, you can take steps to avoid the fate of the family in the picture above.

It's the home owner who is the leading citizen in the community. It's the man who invested in a home in youth to whom the "down-and-outs" must look for assistance when adversity comes into the life.

You can guard against adversity by acting now. Buy a home — or purchase a lot and build your home according to your own plans. Our Photographic Plan and Building Service is the very thing you require in order to give the necessary information for proceeding. Call on us and secure its benefits. Today is the time to act. Don't wait until adversity comes. Forestall misfortune by buying or building a home now.

COACHELLA VALLEY LAND OWNERS AND OTHERS

To any one owning land in Coachella Valley or to any one interested in information regarding this valley and its wonderful possibilities, I shall be glad to give information to the best of my ability. Government forecast indicates that Coachella Valley land is destined to be the most valuable agricultural land in the southwest.

Dates, early grapes (the harvest is now closing), grapefruit and early vegetables make this an outstanding agricultural possibility. Good land is yet available at low prices.

Beautiful Forest Lawn

"Among the Hills"

Flowers Bloom the Year Around

The shrubbery is forever green under the Southern California skies at Forest Lawn. The green hills stand as sentinels sheltering this beloved spot from the chill northwest winds and from the noise and bustle of the work-a-day world.

The world over can offer no more attractive final resting place.

Everything that art, science and loving care can devise has been planned for different forms of burial—be it earth burial, mausoleum crypt, cremation, columbarium niche or private vault.

Every department of Forest Lawn is under one management and operated under one overhead expense—a decided economy, by which every purchaser is benefited.

The Other Side of the Question:

By Fanset Dye Works of Glendale

110 E. BROADWAY

Page 3, lines 13 to 19 of contract provides:

"Lessor (John H. Fanset) agrees upon strict performance of lessees of all foregoing provisions that lessees shall have right to purchase said property at the time of the last rental payment herein named, upon the prompt payment of the sum of one dollar ($1.00) to lessor, and at said time lessor promises and covenants to deliver to said lessees bill of sale to the property herein described."

On January 19, 1920, we made our last rental payment together with the sum of one dollar as agreed upon, thereby fulfilling our part of the contract, but up to the present time we have not received a bill of sale although we have made frequent demands for same.

Page 4, lines 1 to 8:

AS AND FOR A FURTHER CONSIDERATION for the use of the name, "FANSET DYE WORKS OF GLENDALE," lessees hereby agree with lessor that they will send lessor as long as he retains a cleaning establishment in the City of Los Angeles, and as long as lessees maintain a cleaning establishment in Glendale, under the name above set out, all of lessees' cleaning work which lessor agrees to clean at CURRENT LOS ANGELES WHOLESALE PRICES, and lessees further promise lessor that during the time set out they will not erect or maintain or operate a dry cleaning plant.

For over two years John H. Fanset has charged us a higher rate for our cleaning than the current L. A. wholesale rate.

Proof of the above statements can be seen at our office, 110 E. Broadway, in the way of cancelled checks, receipted bills and our original contract.

Having paid John H. Fanset $5,162.70 (five thousand one hundred sixty-two dollars and seventy cents) and also $1(one dollar) as provided for in our contract, we feel that we have a legal right to the use of the name "Fanset Dye Works of Glendale."

We claim by the above statements that John H. Fanset has violated his contract thereby releasing us from any obligation to him.

Share in a GUSHER at Sante Fe Springs

Within 150 yards of the Foix and Alexander gushers—completely surrounded by big production—oil drenched derricks in four directions—the derrick of the (4S) stands on PROVED GUSHER GROUND.

You know of the Santa Fe Springs Gusher Field—know of its record-breaking gushers—wells making 4000 barrels and more of high gravity oil daily. You know of the Bell No. 1—Santa Fe No. 1—Santa Fe No. 3—Dalluge—Alexander—Foix—and others, the tremendous production of which has made oil history.

—At high production's peak in this wonder field stands the (4S) derrick. To this spot the machinery is now being rushed—and the drilling will start as soon as is humanly possible. DRILLING IS GUARANTEED—and to drill means a gusher.

Share in this—you will never have a better opportunity to invest in actual oil production. Each share, too, is a real one. But 2000 units share in a FULL TWO-THIRDS of production—1000 to be sold. In addition, every cent of the unit holder's money is returned from first production, after the deduction only of costs and royalty.

See the lease with your own eyes—investigate—satisfy yourself fully. Compare the (4S) with any! Do all this, but do it now! Act—if you wish to share. Take the free trip to the field tomorrow—tour the oil fields from end to end. Call or phone for bus reservations. Bus leaves at 11 a. m. daily.

PUT PEP PROGRAM OVER WITH BANG AT LEGION MEET

Censor Passes All Acts and Largest Crowd of Season Shows Appreciation

mer stage star. The act opened with Mr. Rensselaer drawing a number of thirty-second sketches of various kinds of "nuts," notably of the pea, dough and beach nut.

Plenty of Beauty

In drawing the "Beach nut," Mr. Rensselaer was assisted by the posing of Miss Helen Roth, noted Los Angeles model and bathing beauty. Miss Jean Fuller, of the real southern California blonde type, next appeared for posing, her part consisting of preparing herself as the artist's model behind an electrically lighted screen. Several poses were taken, the finished product being auctioned for the Legion's charity fund. The act came to a fitting climax when Mr. Rensselaer sketched a portrait of Commander James F. McBryde.

Harry La Mar, female impersonator, who is now appearing on the Bert Levy circuit, next entertained the Legionnaires with his clever singing and reciting. His two big hits were his yodeling and the song, "You Can't Get Along Without Them." Mr. La Mar, who served two years in the service of the United States during the war, was another who gladly called off several Los Angeles engagements to be with his fellow ex-service men.

Provides Ha! Ha!

Danny Ahern, known throughout the country's vaudeville circuits as a most clever monologist, completed the "first water" program with some original soliloquizing which kept his listeners in a state of laughter from start to finish.

Herbert Henning, pianist and composer, accompanied the La Mar and Ahern acts.

In the business meeting which preceded the program the following ex-service men were initiated into Glendale Post No. 127: Henry E. Nagle, George F. Kinley, Floyd O. Hickman, Frank S. Camargo and Norman M. Cupp.

Pacific Methodists Make Fine Showing

Pacific Avenue Methodist church members have made $700 in cash subscriptions in thirty days, was the gratifying report made this morning by Rev. Harley G. Preston, pastor. This is to be used for cleaning, altering and caring for the church building and for other current expenses and is to last until the conference in September.

The church has developed greatly under Rev. Preston's pastorate, the best evidence of the growth being the increase in membership, which has been 110 per cent, bringing the total membership to 180.

Tire Puncture on Jap Prince's Auto Cause of Suicide

TOKIO, July 22—Because of a tire puncture while his royal master was riding in his machine, the chauffeur to Prince Hirohito, regent of Japan, committed hara-kiri today.

Hara-kiri is a method of suicide known in Japan as "Happy Dispatch," permitted as a means of escaping execution or official disgrace. Any happening which in any way inconveniences any member of the imperial family is taken as a personal responsibility by whoever is in control of that portion of the royal entourage in which it occurs.

MATTISON B. JONES MAKES TALK TO KIWANIS CLUB

Altruism and Spirit of Southern California Is Subject of Address

last were awakening to the future possibilities of the Pacific coast.

Out to Pass Pasadena

"There is no reason why Glendale at an early date should not be a second Pasadena," asserted Mr. Jones with enthusiasm. "I almost feel that we can surpass that city to the east of us. This will require the co-operation of every citizen in the city, but I believe we have it.

"I do not believe that any man in Glendale—real estate man, lawyer or whatnot—can best serve his individual interest if he at all times has his one selfish viewpoint in mind and does not have the larger vision.

"The law of compensation has been here as long as man has been on the earth and no good deeds fail of its reward some time and somehow."

Mr. Jones declared that the merchant who built up his business to high levels obliged his competitors to do likewise and hence built up the morale of the community. He said that if his real estate increased in value, his neighbor's would do likewise and vice versa.

Value of Neighborliness

"I appreciate my neighbors more than I have ever been able to say and more than I have ever been able to declare by action," remarked Mr. Jones. "The strength and value of neighborliness the human mind has never been able to estimate. The value of neighborliness has never left me and I hope it never will.

"Life is too short for us to go through it without having at all times some sensible consciousness of our duty to the other fellow. Any organization that intends to be what it really ought to be—that intends to be the greatest force that it is possible to be—must be fundamentally altruistic and not selfish."

"What's the matter with Mat B. Jones?—He's all right!" was the refrain of the "stunt song" sung at the close of the meeting This was led by Ollie W. Andresen, and accompanied by Herb Henning.

The importance of the program next Wednesday night in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce when the Glendale Kiwanis club will receive its charter officially, was emphasized by Secretary Don H. Webb. He declared that the program would be one of the finest ever staged in Glendale and threatened to fine every Kiwanian who was absent $2 for non-attendance.

Attends On Crutches

Lyman P. Clark, president of the club, presided at the luncheon.

The attendance prize was won by Ray Goode of 110 East Broadway.

Henry M. Kuehn of the E. W. Cizek Auto Electric company, 301 South Brand boulevard, was able to attend the luncheon with the aid of a pair of crutches. He was injured and his car was wrecked in an automobile accident a week ago.

Among those present were the following: W. T. Hurt, Attorney Bert B. Woodard, Tom Furst, Dr C. W. Taylor, Ray Galvin, R. M McGee, Emil O. Kiefer, John L. Watson, E. E. Harrington, C. W. Ingledue, H. E. Wilson, F. W. McClelland, H. M. Parker, Herman Nelson, S. Berman, Harry MacBain, Fred Deal, W. L. Taylor, R. F. Adams, D. H. Smith, Attorney James F. McBryde, A. L. Ferguson, J. H. French, Ralph E Murdy, Frank H. Pilling, William G. Bode, M. B. Towman, Charles F. Stuart, S. W. Brown, Allan N. Fairchild, C. B. Murphy and Dr. R. M. Ritchey.

Two Los Angeles Officials to Speak

Ralph Criswell, president of the Los Angeles city council, and Dr. John L. Pomeroy, Los Angeles county health officer, will be the speakers Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Federation of Improvement associations to be held in the Chamber of Commerce building. A sewer system for Glendale will be the subject for discussion.

The meeting, which will be for members only, will begin at 8 o'clock with Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president, presiding.

BESS MOORE AND C. MILTONBERGER ARE MARRIED

Elaborate Ceremony Is Held Last Night; Couple to Reside In Glendale

On Friday night, July 21, 1922, Miss Bess Moore became the bride of Clark A. Miltonberger, both of this city, at the home of Miss Moore's cousins, Rev. and Mrs. A. Ray Moore of Los Angeles. The home was beautifully decorated for the wedding with hydrangeas, ferns and other garden treasures, the living and dining rooms forming a veritable flower garden with its bounteous supply of color.

Little Margaret Moore, a niece of the bride, and Barbara Green of this city assisted Mrs. Ray Moore and Mrs. Lloyd Moore of Long Beach, in receiving the guests, who gathered in the living room. Miss Josephine Moore, another niece of the bride, entertained the guests by singing Cadman's "At Dawning," preceding the ceremony.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Mrs. Elizabeth Lee Van Arnan, who played the wedding march, broke into the strains of "Humoresque," and Miss Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Max Lynn Green as her only attendant, descended the stairs and joined Mr. Miltonberger and Max L. Green, who acted as best man. The bridal party then stood before the huge fireplace, which had been banked with flowers and greenery, where the ceremony was conducted by Rev. Moore, who is the pastor of the Boyle Heights Methodist church of Los Angeles. The simple ring service was used.

Exquisite Creation

The wedding dress was an exquisite creation of Harding blue georgette crepe trimmed with artistic arrangements of steel gray beads. Gray slippers and stockings carried out the combination. Miss Moore carried a shower bouquet of dainty pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Green was garbed in a light yellow organdie dress and carried a bouquet of pink snapdragons and baby gladioli.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held for the guests, at which punch and wafers were served by Mrs. Frank C. Weller, Mrs. Wilbur Lee and Mrs. Genevieve Barton. During the social hour that followed, the bride and bridegroom cleverly outwitted their friends by slipping away before it became known to anyone. The destination of their honeymoon trip is not known.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Miltonberger are well known in Glendale, they having lived here for some time. Mrs. Miltonberger has made a host of local friends through her endeavors in the nursing profession during the past few years, while Mr. Miltonberger has been a resident of this city for two years. He is a brother of Mrs. Ed M. Lee of 345 North Belmont street, at whose home he has been staying since coming here from his former home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Purchase Home Here

Mr. Miltonberger has purchased a home in the 1300 block on East Harvard street, where he and his bride will be at home to their friends within the next few weeks.

Those who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Connor of Long Beach; Mrs. N. J. Moore of Birmingham, Iowa; Miss Viola Elliott of Anaheim; Alfred Goldsmith of Pasadena; Mrs. Genevieve Barton of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cornell of Van Nuys; Rev. and Mrs. A. Ray Moore, Miss Josephine Moore and Margaret Moore, Mason Moore, Miss Laura Hunt, Miss Virginia Winson and Mrs. Elizabeth Lee Van Arman, of Los Angeles; and Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee, Kenneth Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Way, Mrs. Glen Chesney, Miss Virginia Chesney, Mrs. Jennie Steele, Mr. and Mrs. George Creach, Miss Mary Creach, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gallup, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Young, Miss Margaret Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lynn Green, Barbara Green, Patricia Green and Max Green, Jr

Give Hearty Welcome to New Members

A reception to new members, who were given the right hand of fellowship at last Sunday's Twilight Communion service, was held Thursday night in the parlors of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

The chairman of the evening was W. E. McCormick. The brief program was opened with prayer by Rev. W. E. Edmonds. The new members were welcomed by Geo. D. McDill. John Swearngin responded for the new members. Mrs. J. Mac Millan and Mrs. Clifford Riggs played a piano duet. Mrs. Marshall L. Doner of Phoenix gave a reading which was enthusiastically received. A vocal solo was given by Clifford Riggs. J. F. Reynolds gave a reading. This was followed by a violin solo by James Edmonds, who was accompanied by Miss Hazel Linkogel, The last number was a vocal solo by Marshall L. Doner of Phoenix. After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," Rev Louis Tinning, the assistant pastor, led in prayer.

Light refreshments were served by the ladies of the L to R division of the membership.

The usual fine spirit of good fellowship was entered into most enthusiastically by both old and new members and many expressions for the larger work of the church in the future were heard.

to save the residence and furniture was severely burned about the hands and head, and suffered a painful bruise on one leg.

Damage to the contents of the paint shop besides the cars is not known. The place is operated by W. H. French and W. C. Beckman, and it is understood that owners of automobiles leave their cars there at their own risk.

Chickens Destroyed

The private garage in the rear of the shop was also owned by Mr. Griffin, and was burned to the ground. Luckily Mr. Griffin, who had ordered a new automobile had not yet received the car and the garage was empty. A dozen chickens in a nearby pen, and about the same number of rabbits, all the property of Mr. Griffin, were killed before firemen could reach them. Three rabbits were saved.

It will be practically impossible, it is announced, to determine for a certainty the cause of the blaze. It is thought that spontaneous combustion from oily rags in the rear of the shop started the fire, for it evidently originated from that part of the building.

Glendale's fire department is receiving unqualified praise from residents in the vicinity who saw the efficiency and heroism displayed by the firemen. Although some suffered burns from the heat of the blazing building, and shocks from electric wires which came down when the walls fell, there was no hesitation or delay.

The Goddard residence is less than fifteen feet from the structure which burned to the ground and was already scorching when the department reached the scene, yet the building, as well as another a scant fifty feet from the blaze, were saved, the latter remaintain intact.

"I always thought that we had a sort of small town fire department," Mr. Goddard is reported to have said, "but after the way they handled this affair, I know better. They can't be beat."

OPERATION SUCCESS

Friends of George Plumb of 343 Milford street will be glad to learn that he is improving satisfactorily from an operation for appendicitis performed Tuesday night at the Glendale Research Hospital.

TO VISIT AT VENICE

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tracy and daughter Lillian, accompanied by their house guests, Mrs. C. L. Starrepp and daughter Elizabeth of Colorado Springs, will spend Sunday at Venice.

Dog to Get Medal for Rescue Attempt

MANCHESTER, N. H.—Jack, a dog owned by Miss Ruth Clair Laberge is to be awarded a medal for his heroism in attempting to save the life of another dog, the Animal Rescue League announced.

Jack swam to the rescue of the other dog as it was overcome by a heavy current in a brook, but failed to reach the animal before it went down.

To can String Beans
the Easy Lorain Way

String and grade. Put in cheese cloth bag and scald from 5 to 10 minutes in boiling water. Cold-dip. Pack whole, to ¼-inch from top of jar. Add boiling water, and 1 teaspoon salt (for quart jar). Adjust scalded rubbers, put jars in oven. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, leave the hot kitchen for two hours and forget your canning. When alarm clock rings at the end of that time, remove jars from oven and seal tightly.

To can Tomatoes
the Easy Lorain Way

Select solid ones, scald long enough to loosen skins. Dip in cold water, core and peel. Pack whole, to within ½ inch from top of jar. Add no water. Add 1 teaspoon salt (for quart). Place scalded rubbers in position. Adjust lid loosely. Put jars in oven. Set Lorain wheel at 250 degrees. Forget them for one hour, while you rest. Remove jars from oven and seal tightly when alarm clock rings. That's all.

To can Beets
the Easy Lorain Way

Clean well, scald about 5 minutes. Cold-dip. Remove skins. Pack whole, sliced or cubed. Fill jar with boiling water, adding 1 teaspoon salt for quart jar. Put scalded rubbers in place, leave lids loose. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, and cook in oven for 1½ hours, unwatched. Meanwhile, you rest where it is cool. Remove jars and seal them when alarm clock rings. Isn't that easy?

How to keep cool while canning

The famous Lorain Oven Heat Regulator has changed home canning methods—made it easy and always successful. Read the recipes. Isn't that an improvement over the old way?

No more standing over steaming kettles on a scorching stove, while the kitchen heat rises far above the temperatures of a July day. Lorain canning means resting on your cool veranda while Lorain watches the job.

No need any longer to stay for weary hours in the hot kitchen to watch steaming kettles. Any woman who cooks with gas can do her canning with far less time and work! Thousands of women praise this Lorain oven method.

With a Lorain-equipped Clark Jewel, all canning is very simple and easy, as you'll see from the above recipes.

You don't have to stay in the kitchen, after preparing the vegetable or fruit and putting the jars in the oven! While Lorain watches the canning you are free to do other things.

You will find, too, that fruits and vegetables done the Lorain way keep their firmness, color, and fresh-from-the-garden taste perfectly. There are many advantages of oven canning by measured time and temperature. Let us demonstrate them to you now, and give you the free illustrated booklet "Lorain Oven Canning."

LORAIN - OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator is an attachment on Clark Jewel gas ovens. It automatically keeps your oven at any one of 44 different temperatures. Simply set the "red wheel" for any heat you want. Changes in gas pressure, etc., do not affect the oven temperature.

CLARK JEWEL GAS RANGES
The baked-on finish of these ranges gives them a lustrous, durable surface that is as easy to keep clean as it is good to look at. All-steel construction prevents breakage. A variety of pleasing styles and convenient sizes to choose from.
